Cars Balky, Power Out As Mercury Nudges -16

Temperatures in southwestern Michigan plunged all the way from 8-below to 16-below zero overnight, for the coldest spell of the winter. In fact, it was the first occasion that the mercury has gone below zero this winter for most of the area.

The bitterly cold air stalled numerous vehicles but reportedly probably did not cause much damage to fruit buds.

Herbert Teichman of Eau Claire, who operates a weather observation station in cooperation with the National Weather Service, noted that the cold air moved into the area on a light southeasterly breeze. This avoided the normal warming effect of Lake Michigan, he explained.

The Lakeshore school system started classes an hour late this morning when school bus drivers had trouble starting eight school buses due to the subzero temperatures.

Paul Kaiser, engineer-manager at the Van Buren county road commission, reported 16-below at the Lawrence garage. Weather instruments at this newspaper's Benton Harbor office recorded an overnight low of 6 below at 6 this morning.

Residents in the south St. Joseph area were without electrical power from about 5:30 to 7:45 this morning. The power outage was unrelated to the early morning cold snap, according to John Banyon, division manager at Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., but left residents without heat during the early morning cold spell. Banyon said the electrical outage was caused by a faulty transformer at the Hickory Creek station and affected residents in an area from Glenford road north to Nelson road.

Teichman reported a low of 11-below zero at 4 this morning at his Eau Claire farm. Teichman said the subzero temperature probably did not harm fruit buds generally although some weak peach buds may have been killed.

A slow warming trend for Southwestern Michigan is forecast for today and tomorrow. Tonight, weather is expected to be cloudy and not as cold with a low of 10 to 15. Snow is forecast for tomorrow but with warmer temperatures with highs in the lower to mid 20's.

Little snowfall was reported during cold temperatures this morning.

Southwestern Michigan received about two inches of snow over the weekend causing some hazardous road conditions. State police from the Niles post reported a 16-year-old Chesterton, Ind., girl died Saturday night as a result of injuries received in a two-car accident on snow-covered US-12, south of Buchanan. Police said Robin S. Chellberg was pronounced dead on arrival at Niles Pawating hospital shortly after the 10 p.m. crash.

Subzero weather created brisk business for ride-for-hire and emergency road service agencies.

"It's cold and they're starting hard," is the way one Twin Cities road service garage summed up car-starting calls.

"They're swamping us," said Walt Riemland, assistant manager of Ehrenberg's Service Center in downtown St. Joseph, a road service agent for Standard Oil's American Motor club.

"It's mostly all hot shots (jumping dead batteries) on account of the cold weather," he said. Calls for rides were up 20 per cent from a normal Monday at Dial-A-Ride.

(DART) headquarters in Benton Harbor, where some employees even had to hitch rides because their cars wouldn't start. "The biggest percentage of them (riders) are going to the unemployment office in St. Joseph," said Miss Carolyn Graves, DART operations supervisor.

U.S. Trains Saudi Troops; Senators Ask Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Henry M. Jackson and Hubert H. Humphrey have called for a congressional investigation of the Defense Department's contract with a private corporation to train Saudi Arabian troops to protect oil wells in the Persian Gulf.

Jackson, D-Wash., said he would ask Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, to conduct hearings.

Jackson, who last Thursday announced his candidacy for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, said he was "completely baffled" by the contract.

"Only a short time ago the President and secretary of state indicated the option of U.S. military action might be considered under certain circumstances in the Middle East," he said in a telephone interview Sunday.

He said the contract to train Saudi troops was "confusing," since "we're the only ones who've raised an inference of a threat."

Humphrey, D-Minn., in calling for an investigation of the contract, said, "The possibility of having American forces training another country's troops in the Mideast is fraught with danger ...

"I think the armed services committees of the House and Senate should promptly look into it and see what it involves," Humphrey said in a telephone interview Sunday.

The Defense Department's $77 million contract with the Vinnell Corp. of Los Angeles was disclosed Sunday by The Associated Press.

Vinnell is hiring former U.S. special forces soldiers and other war veterans to send to Saudi Arabia on a job usually handled by the U.S. government — training a foreign army to fire its weapons and fight wars.

There apparently is no shortage of experienced recruits for the 1,000-man force Vinnell is assembling to train Saudi Arabia's 26,000-man internal security force, which is responsible for protecting the rich Saudi oil fields and providing body guards for the Saudi Arabian royal family.

First Road Deaths In Berrien, Allegan

Two teenagers were killed in traffic accidents in Berrien and Allegan counties Saturday.

They were among eight killed in weekend traffic accidents throughout the state, according to state police and first traffic deaths were fatalities in each county so far this year.

A year ago at this time, Berrien and Allegan counties each had one traffic fatality also. Robin S. S. Chellberg, 16, Chesterton, Ind., died Saturday night as result of injuries received in a two-car crash on snow-covered US-12, south of Buchanan, state police from the Niles post said. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Niles Pawating hospital shortly after the 10 p.m. crash, just west of Bakertown road in Bertrand township.

Gilbert W. Bowler, 17, of Portage, was pronounced dead on arrival at Pipp hospital, Plainwell, following a car-pickup accident at 1:37 p.m., on M-89 just west of Jefferson road in Allegan county's Otsego township. Driver of the pickup, Carl M. Russell of Otsego, was listed in fair condition in the intensive care unit at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo, this morning.

Troopers said three other persons, including a Galien couple and the driver of the auto Miss Chellberg was a passenger in, were slightly injured in the Bertrand township crash.

Police said Douglas Mills, 19, also of Chesterton, told troopers he was headed east on US-12 when his low-slung sports car spun on a patch of ice, crossing the centerline, and was struck on the passenger's side, where Miss Chellberg was riding, by a westbound car driven by Daniel L. Snodgrass, 25, route 1, Buffalo road, Galien.

The Snodgrass' five-month-old son, Thomas, escaped injury, police said. No charges have been filed, but the accident remains under investigation, police said.

In Allegan county, the Bowler was heading east on M-49 toward Otsego, when his auto slid sideways into the west-bound lane, where it was struck broadside by the Russell pickup. There were no passengers in either vehicle, police said, and the accident remains under investigation.

Fertility Pills Payoff With Quints For Mother

CHICAGO (AP) — "I feel like I've been hit by a truck, but I feel great!" 27-year-old Cheryl Shaf said from her hospital bed after giving birth to quintuplets.

Four of the infants — two boys and two girls — born Sunday were in good condition after their first day. The fifth child, a boy, had a breathing problem but was "holding his own," a hospital spokesman said.

Mrs. Shaf's husband Vance, 28, said in a telephone interview that he and his wife hadn't planned on such a large family.

"But I guess we don't have much choice now," he added. The Shafs, who live in a four-bedroom house in Morton Grove, Ill., also have a 3-year-old daughter, Melissa.

"It was the most amazing thing I've ever seen," said Shaf, a partner in a home-building company in suburban Chicago. "I feel fantastic, but I just can't believe it! I wouldn't give this up for anything."

The girls were named Vanessa-Ashley and Tiffany Allison. But the boys were still No. 1, No. 2, and No. 3, the hospital spokesman said.

One boy, No. 3, needed "support with oxygen and careful watching," she added.

Dr. Arian R. Oleck, an obstetrician who supervised the one-hour delivery, told reporters Mrs. Shaf used the fertility drug Pergonal.

At first, doctors predicted triplets, then quadruplets. X rays confirmed a week ago Mrs. Shaf would have quintuplets, Oleck said.

The infants, all delivered by caesarian section, were in incubators and were expected to be left at the clinic for several months, officials said.

The infants weighed from 2 pounds 5 ounces to 3 pounds and 2 ounces at birth. Doctors said the babies were three weeks premature.

Hold That Hand On The Clock

This week the Michigan House is expected to try another run through the super fast time thickets.

A few days ago the House failed by one vote to approve the Senate bill enrolling the state on Eastern Daylight Savings Time pursuant to a national formula whereby on February 23 virtually all of the states move their clocks ahead one hour.

The House balloting was even farther distant from a two-thirds majority which is required to give immediate effect to legislation.

Had last week's slim margin reversed itself, it would mean Michigan would join the jet set time schedule in 1976.

Otherwise, ESDT would take effect this coming April 27th pursuant agreement reached within the legislature last year.

The confusion in the foregoing time table runs back six or more years when Congress adopted Daylight Savings Time uniformly from spring into fall for the U.S., except as a state might exempt itself from it.

Michigan had been on Eastern Standard Time since 1940. Going ESDT to send the clock two hours ahead of the sun would raise hob with farmers and younger kids going to school in the morning and to bed at night.

The legislature voted for the exemption which survived one public referendum and lost to a second effort.

Out of that disastrous experience came legislative repeal of the second referendum.

The current Senate bill and the as yet inconclusive action in the House is an effort to restore speeded up timekeeping.

Critical to the outcome is Governor Milliken's attitude.

He is balancing the relative clout between outraged farmers and parents of school age youngsters against a lobby of Detroit TV operators, bankers, industrialists and airline operators.

The television station managers detest the expense of relaying network shows pumped out of New York City on an eastern time schedule.

The bankers and stock brokers naturally want to correlate their office hours with the New York Stock Exchange and eastern financial houses.

The industrial community at Detroit unarguably is linked to its counterpart in Cleveland, Pittsburgh and beyond.

For the most so are the airlines which make Detroit a home basing point.

Come spring the chap who wants a longer afternoon and evening on the golf course is understandably gung ho for the faster time.

Under normal conditions, which is to say those existing before the current recession, those arguments are strictly in the prestige category. It has been fashionable for decades for Detroit to think of itself as an extension of Gotham and the outstate area as a refuge inhabited by country bumpkins who somehow fail to realize that what's good for Detroit by definition has to be good for Michigan.

The state's high unemployment rate is being applied as a further makeweight contention to join the super fast time circuit. The legislators are being badgered by the assertion that unless DST comes on within two weeks instead of in late April what is bad now will turn even worse.

This is absolute nonsense but in times of stress all manner of foolish ideas are seized upon.

The legislature has more important problems to wrestle with than tinkering with the clock.

It would be a refreshing change to see it come up with some meritorious answers to tough questions besetting our state and forsake imposing unwanted irritations upon their constituents.

Rationing Inequities

Advocates of gasoline rationing in preference to allocations or higher taxes as a means of reducing consumption by one million barrels a day have several objectives in mind. One of them is that higher prices, however arranged, inevitably hurt those at the lower end of the economic scale the most.

Another tenet of the rationing advocates is that their plan is the only one which will work. Their logic is based on the simple premise that fuel which is not available won't be used. So what if the average motorist has to get by with 8 or 9 gallons of gas a week. If that is all his share comes to, that is all he will receive.

Inequities in this argument are too obvious to overlook. It is impossible even for a bureaucracy as large as the federal government to gather statistics so complete they will differentiate between the motorist who uses 20 gallons of fuel a week just to go to work and the housewife whose car may travel no more than 25 miles a week on the average.

Rationing during World War II had a different purpose than the need for conservation which exists today. In the war years rationing was adopted as a means of sending large shipments of fuel abroad to feed gasoline needs of both America's allies and its allies, and to save tires. Cost of the fuel was not a significant factor, until black markets charging as much as 7 a gallon appeared in the wake of rationing.

Today the situation is that Washington has decided although the world has no real shortage of oil the United States simply is not going to pay the price asked by the major producers and is going on a decade-long withdrawal program to reduce imports.

The President's plan to impose added tariffs on imported oil could be only the first step in this process. If higher prices do not reduce consumption significantly, the next step could be gradually progressive import quotas which turn the valve on the overseas pipeline until it runs dry.

Thus, the situation today, barring a change in national policy toward imported oil, or another oil boycott, is not a temporary one as it was during the war. It represents a commitment toward a permanent goal of reduced consumption. Rationing could accomplish this objective only if it were imposed on a permanent basis, complete with all the inequities, black markets, favoritism and other corruption which arrived with World War II rationing.

On a short term basis, rationing might work after a fashion; over the long haul it cannot.

MILITARY LIFE NOT SO EASY

Editor,

The recent letter from a Navy wife pointing out the many errors in Tom Tiede's tirade about military benefits struck a responsive chord. Mrs. Ferrenti's assessment of the feeling in military towns toward adjacent bases is the correct one. Mr. Tiede's article indicated Base Personnel were not interested in mixing with the local populace.

For years I located off-base housing for Air Force families, and would hesitate to relate some of the excuses landlords gave for high rents expected, or why they would not rent to some sections of the military. Presently all commissaries have a five per cent surtax or "surcharge" and this is to be raised to at least 15 per cent!

Military benefits are unpredictable due to few doctors in the Services. Retirees, who had been promised much at the start of their military service, discover emoluments melting in the current effort to downgrade our country's military might.

So, the years of constant moving, which does not permit accumulation of assets, leaves them with only bitter memories. Possibly Mr. Tiede enjoys his right of free speech because of the men who are facing the hostile mobs who scream "Yankee Go Home!"

Mrs. Fred G. (Shirley) Alden Baruda

RESPECTS POLICE

Editor,

I am writing a few lines to say how nice it is to read the news and not to see the officers of the law called pigs and such. These men take their life in their hands every time they leave home to look after us and ours.

And, after a small study, I believe the ones who use the term pigs are small time punks, the ones you hear about grabbing an old lady's purse or using dope. They try and make their selves look big and bad with a stupid dirty mouth. The big time hoods never talk like that for they fear and respect the law. Well, I thought it was time some one spoke out for a good clean paper and our boys in blue.

Do You REMEMBER?

- 10 Years Ago -

Six Lakeshore junior high school students will represent their school in the fourth annual Cloverleaf spelling contest to be held Thursday at Hull school.

They are Diane Machurick, Michael Allen, Melody Molpus, Tom Philbin, David Harris and Larry Phillips.

- 25 Years Ago -

A huge crowd of twin city band concert fans jammed the Liberty theater at least two hours before curtain time last night to hear the "million dollar" 55-piece Saladin Shrine concert band present its world-famous program of band music and vaudeville.

The first annual "college night" to be held in the St. Joseph high school is scheduled for Feb. 28, Principal Henry Weyland revealed today. Representatives of some 50 colleges and universities throughout the nation are expected to be at the high school that evening to confer with junior and senior students interested in attending college.

- 50 Years Ago -

Spring will see much local building construction, not the least of which will be the erection of a fine new five story business block at the corner of Michigan and Pipestone, Benton Harbor.

F.L. Bradford, one of the owners of this corner property, said today that Architect Nicol of the Hotel Vincent in Benton Harbor had been commissioned to draw plans for a five story structure. The present block, which is best known as the original C.C. Sweet property, will be torn down. The improvement is part of the Michigan street widening, which the city will undertake in the spring.

Considerable other local building is in prospect. W.G. Newland asked the city commission for permission to revamp part of the building now occupied by the W.S. Waite furniture store. The Waite lease expires March 1. Mr. Newland will make extensive alterations in the store to accommodate either his own furniture store or another business.

- 75 Years Ago -

W.H. Richards has been awarded the contract to build a new warehouse for the Anderson-Tully company. The building will be an addition to the plant located in Benton Harbor. Work will commence at once.

Null's Military band will give a grand concert in Conkey's hall, Benton Harbor, on the evening of February 20th. This will far surpass any entertainment the band has ever given. There will be heavy overtures and new descriptive pieces, also solos and recitations.

The compound door factory in St. Joseph is to be enlarged.

"Klondike" Williams and "Syrause" Lawton will engage in a boxing bout at the St. Joseph athletic clubrooms tonight. The exhibition will be an exciting one and the rooms will no doubt be crowded.

Vietnam Still A U.S. War

WASHINGTON — At a recent diplomatic gathering I was introduced to a businessman from South Vietnam. The host identified me as a newspaperman.

"Oh yes, the press," the Vietnamese said, looking down into his refreshment glass, "and why do you hate us so?"

I ignored the question at the time as bizarre, but ponder it now. As the Communists increase their ferocity in the Southeast Asian nation, and leaders there predict doom if U.S. aid is not immediate, the businessman's wonder becomes quite reasonable: His fate, his family's, and the future of society as he knows it hangs by a gossamer thread of public relations. A generally hostile U.S. press may yet destroy the man's dreams, beliefs and even his life.

I say hostile and he says hate. Perhaps his term is closer to the truth. Whatever, the sentiment is not confined to the media commentators, but rather is passed on to same in the form of news and argument by that segment of the American public which, unprecedented in the nation's history, has come to dislike this Asian ally more than any of our enemies. It is not just U.S. noninvolvement these anti-South Vietnamese people covet, nor for that matter peace and peace alone, it is the complete destruction of South Vietnam as it is now constituted.

There is no doubt ample reason for many Americans to look on South Vietnam with a wrinkled nose. At least 40,000 U.S. families lost relatives there, and every taxpayer continues to feel the burden of a U.S. compliance that when all past and future costs are considered totals about $400 billion in fees. Besides this, it almost goes without saying, is the as yet unpatchable split in the American experience caused by the Vietnam hemorrhage.

Yet hatred seems excessive. It was U.S. leadership not Vietnamese that committed so many American lives and dollars to the grave. One can deny further commitment with honor and wisdom, but to deny it in the hope and prediction that the denial will murder South Vietnam is a form of political genocide. That nation did nothing to this which deserves cries for its slaughter.

This is not to imply that South Vietnam is anything more than it is — a sinkhole of corruption, largely, where demands never cease for the common man's sacrifice. But measured against most of the nations in the world (112 of 152 of which are considered to be less "than free" by Freedom House, Inc.) it is not so dark. As freedom goes, actually, the Saigon government at least rates above its adversary to the north, which allows no open elections, no labor unions, no student demonstrations and no independent newspapers. South Vietnam may not be a model of Jeffersonian democracy, but today as for the past 30 years there is no movement north of a people who would seek any reasonable escape.

And make no mistake that in terms of barbarian too, the South (if only because it has been so carefully scrutinized by world opinion) must be preferable to its antagonists. I recall as a reporter in the war coming across a U.S. trooper unfortunate enough to be isolated from his unit by the Viet Cong. The man was stripped of leg skin, mutilated in the crotch, blinded, and shot close range through the head. The allies had periodic My Lai's; the other side did such as policy.

I admit here to a distaste for this pondering. Reflections of aberrations are never pleasant, writing again about Vietnam is a chore. As others, I wish to forget.

Ford's Rating: 'A Poor Job'

WASHINGTON — In only six months in office, President Gerald Ford appears to have faltered precipitously in public esteem and confidence.

This growing discontent with his performance seems certain to handicap him in his struggle with a Democratic-controlled Congress over measures to revive the economy.

In a nationwide survey by Louis Harris, published this week, 60 percent of those polled gave the President a negative job rating, viewing him as doing only a fair or poor job. The results represented a dramatic shift since September, when only 29 percent of those surveyed in an identical Harris poll viewed him negatively.

Polls are not infallible, but they have generally proven to be reliable indicators of public sentiment. Hence it appears that nearly two-thirds of the country is unhappy with the President's performance to date.

Furthermore, Ford gets scarcely more approval than did Richard Nixon on the verge of his departure in disgrace. In a similar Harris poll taken in July, just before the House Judiciary Committee impeachment vote, Nixon received a negative rating from 68 percent of those surveyed.

The conclusion is inescapable that Ford is doing something wrong. So what is it? The obvious answer would seem to be that the economy stinks and the President is taking the blame. This latest survey was taken between January 16 and 20, shortly after Ford's State of the Union message outlining his plans to fight inflation, recession and the energy crunch. His program appears to have made little immediate impact.

To correct that, the President is beginning a series of speeches around the country to sell his program and add pressure on Congress to pass his proposals. He may, however, find it tough going. The country traditionally holds its Presidents, not Congress, responsible for major problems — and our economic troubles will not go away overnight, regardless of the fate of his program.

Ford is also a victim of fallout from the general low estate to which his party has sunk. As House minority leader, he was always an intense Republican partisan.

But the Nixon scandal has devastated the GOP. A nationwide survey commissioned by the Republican National Committee was revealed last month to a gathering of state GOP chairmen, and it was bad news: The findings by pollster Robert Teeter show only 18 percent of Americans now consider themselves to be Republicans, compared with 42 percent who identify themselves as Democrats and 40 percent who say they are independents.

The survey also indicated that a majority of voters view the Republican party as untrustworthy, incompetent, rich and closely allied with big business.

If Ford is to recapture public confidence, he may have to overcome his identification as a GOP spokesman — a task which would undoubtedly be awkward for him.

When he pardoned Nixon, Ford also became associated in the public mind with the whole sordid mess, even though he had no connection with any of the crimes. The Nixon pardon, as one wag said, was a Fordian slip.

In short, the President is caught in an unfavorable political climate not entirely of his own making. And, so far, it is obvious he hasn't figured out how to cope successfully with it.

Economic Plan Endorsed

Platts Sends Ford Letter Of Support

JOHN H. PLATTS
Supports Ford

John H. Platts, chairman of the board and president of Whirlpool Corporation, has come out in support of President Ford's basic energy and economic proposals. In a letter to the President, Platts urged Ford to continue his opposition to rationing of fuel and to wage-price controls, and supported the President's effort to maintain a free market economy.

Platts also stated that there are many positive economic factors going for the country, and that as a nation, we should build on these "positives" rather than allowing ourselves to be overwhelmed by negative thinking.

The full text of Platts' letter to Ford:
Dear Mr. President:
You have our full support in your pursuit of solutions to our nation's economic problems. While times are now difficult for millions of Americans, we are convinced that the basic strength and integrity of our economic system will prevail if permitted to function free of additional governmental controls and other artificial barriers to the free market mechanism.

We urge you to hold strong in your opposition to wage and price controls and gas rationing. On the surface, both hold forth the promise of being quick cures to our most pressing national problems, inflation and the energy crisis, when in fact they are not.

We also hope you will in the near future address yourself publicly to some of the positive economic indicators that are now appearing. In our estimation, the greatest single negative force in the economy today is the deep seated lack of consumer confidence which pervades the nation. Regarding energy, we endorse your plan of increased oil tariffs as a necessary step to reduce domestic consumption. The pricing mechanism is the more lasting method for reducing consumption, and it also provides for the availability of capital as incentive to development of new domestic fuels.

You have challenged the home appliance industry to achieve an overall 20 percent reduction in energy consumption by its new products by 1980. We believe this goal may be attainable. We have yet to determine, however, if it can be reached without incurring significant product price increases. We also believe this appliance target can best be met in a voluntary program of cooperation with government.

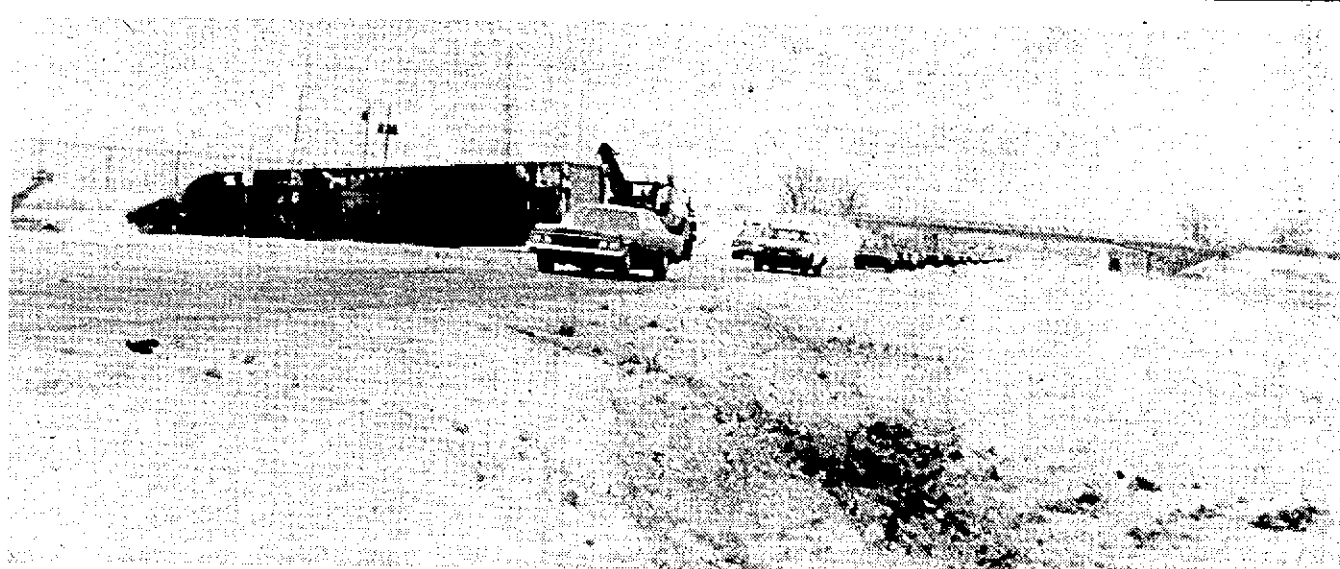

Wage-price controls and inconsistencies on investment programs, such as the investment tax credit, have done much to discourage capital formation, reinvestment and productivity in recent years.

In each of these matters, the issue is government controls (a costly adversarial condition) versus the business-government cooperative approach in a free market system. The latter has proven much more successful.

We are optimistic about the direction of the economy, and would cite in support of our optimism such factors as the recent slowing in the rate of inflation, lowering interest rates, positive consumer response to aggressive marketing programs, and strong evidence that consumers have considerable amounts of cash available to spend. By concentrating on the positives rather than the negatives, we believe the economy can be turned around sooner than currently predicted.

We support your goals and encourage you to remain firm in your positions on wage-price controls, gas rationing and other economic proposals.

Sincerely,
John H. Platts

TRAFFIC CREEPS PAST: Traffic on westbound I-94, Benton township, creeps past semi-truck overturned across shoulder and outside lane Sunday afternoon. No serious injuries were reported. Benton township police said truck was eastbound about 3:50 p.m., when front left tire blew out. Truck overturned in median but continued in a slide across three westbound lanes before coming to rest. Driver Jack VanDusen, 50, Grand Rapids, was treated for minor injuries at Mercy hospital. Mishap occurred just north of Napier avenue. Township firemen washed away gasoline. (Norm Rasmussen photo)

Former SJ Man Heads Idaho Nuclear Project

Robert Hasse, former St. Joseph resident, was recently appointed manager of Aerojet Nuclear Company's Experiments branch at the test reactor facilities near Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Hasse, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hasse, formerly of St. Joseph and now living in Grand Rapids, graduated from St. Joseph high school and received his master's degree from Michigan Technological University.

Hasse joined ANC in 1973, as test reactor quality program manager, and served in that capacity until his new appointment.

The Aerojet company is a prime contractor for the federal government. It operates the federal Idaho National Engineering laboratory which is a major laboratory covering 60 square miles in southeastern Idaho and includes the world's most sophisticated water cooled test reactor. The laboratory's prime function, at present, is the testing of commercial and military nuclear concepts, materials and waste management. Its function has recently been expanded to include development of geothermal and other energy sources.

Hasse came to ANC from the National Aeronautics Space Administration (NASA), where his responsibilities included the management of the hot laboratory complex which supports the now-closed Plum Brook nuclear reactor in Sandusky, Ohio.

Hasse is a member of the American Chemical Society, American Nuclear Society and the American Society of Quality Control. He has also published several papers on the effects of radiation on nuclear reactor equipment.

Hasse and his wife, Ruth, have two children and live in Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Bonds Are Set At $100,000 In Bank Robbery

Bonds of $100,000, each, were set for two Benton Harbor men who were arraigned on bank robbery charges before Fifth District Judge Leo Cook Saturday.

Demanding preliminary examinations during the arraignment were, M.C. Woods, 24, of 694 Colfax avenue, and Leotis West, Jr., 21, of 419 Brunson avenue. Bail was not furnished, and both men were lodged in the Berrien county jail, according to the sheriff's department.

Woods and West were arrested Friday afternoon, about 8 minutes after the Scottdale branch of Peoples State bank, St. Joseph, reported a holdup. Money stolen was reported to total $12,318.

The arrests were made by state troopers from the Benton Harbor post, who stopped an auto at the I-94 and US-33 interchange about 1½ miles from the bank. Confiscated were a pillow case containing money and a gun, troopers stated. Sheriff's department records show Woods to be employed as a laborer at a Twin Cities area factory. Records state that West is a mechanic, but no employer is listed.

Douse Blaze

Benton Harbor firemen at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, extinguished a blaze under the dashboard of an auto being worked on in a repair shop at 355 Territorial road. Firemen attributed the blaze to a short circuit. Shop Owner Letcher Miller told firemen he was working on the car and left briefly. He reported the blaze after returning. Owner of the auto was not reported.

Our Women Writers Win State Awards

Anita Smith, staff writer for the Herald-Palladium, and Arlys Derrick, women's editor, won four first place awards in the annual Michigan Women's Press club writing contest.

The awards were announced at the winter meeting of MWPC held Feb. 7-9 at the Holiday Inn North in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Smith received her first place recognition for three articles: "Lending Institutions Assure Credit For Women," "Dinner Menu Foods Have Far And Near Origins," and "Parent Training Is Dinner Topic" which appeared in this newspaper Oct. 1, Oct. 30, and May 23, 1974. Competition in this category was against papers of all circulation sizes.

Mrs. Derrick received three awards: promotion (newspaper) for articles on the religious arts festival conducted last fall by the Twin Cities Arts Council and the First Congregational church of Benton Harbor; pages regularly edited by a woman, other than women's pages (food pages), and women's pages regularly edited by a woman.

The promotion category included competition from newspapers in all circulation sizes while the pages awards were in the circulation area of daily newspaper, 20,001 to 50,000.

All first place winning entries in the Michigan contest will automatically be entered in competition for the National Federation of Press Women clubs' communication contest. Winners will be announced at the national convention in Sun Valley, Idaho, in June.

Attending the Michigan convention representing the Herald-Palladium in addition to Mrs. Derrick and Mrs. Smith, were San Dee Wallace and Maryanne Butt, staff writers, and Sandy Engle, correspondent.

Galien Family Frightens Burglar Away

SAWYER — Mrs. Marie Miller, 3361 Browntown road, Sawyer, told Galien substation sheriff's deputies she and her family frightened off a burglar as they returned to their home about 1:30 a.m. this morning.

Entry had been made by breaking a garage door. The man fled, apparently empty-handed, as the Miller family came into the yard, deputies related.

Watervliet Teen Faces 3 Charges

COLOMA — Michael Allen Brock, 17, 709 Forest Park, Watervliet, and a junior at Watervliet high school, was arrested over the weekend on charges of possession of marijuana, minor in possession of intoxicants, and possession of open intoxicants in a motor vehicle, according to Coloma township police.

Police said Brock and two juvenile boys, brothers 15 and 16 from Watervliet, were arrested about 1:30 a.m. Saturday after township police stopped a van truck near Becht and Defield roads in the township.

Officers said a small amount of suspected marijuana was confiscated along with a quantity of beer and wine.

The juveniles, taken into custody on the same charges as Brock, are to be petitioned into Berrien juvenile court, police said.

Scouts Witness Law In Action

A group of Boy Scouts witnessed law enforcement in action during a tour of the Berrien county jail in St. Joseph Saturday.

The action occurred in the jail lobby, where a man was arrested for allegedly voicing obscene language in the presence of the Scouts, reported Deputy Charles Kasun.

Kasun said he was guiding the tour about 10:52 a.m., when the group was approached by a man in the lobby. Kasun reported the man asked about a prisoner in the jail. When asked to wait a minute for the tour to end, the man allegedly voiced "several phrases of obscene language in the lobby and in the presence of the Boy Scouts," Kasun stated.

Booked on a charge of being a disorderly person was Robert C. Johnson, 19, Highland, Ind.

It wasn't reported what troop the Scouts belonged to.

Hearing Tuesday On Proposed 'Socio Center'

Considerable advance interest has been indicated in a public hearing to be held Tuesday on a $30,670 grant application for a "Socio-Recreative Drop-in Center" in Benton Harbor, according to the Southwestern Michigan Comprehensive Health Planning association (SMCHPA).

The hearing is scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m. at the Model Neighborhood center, 809 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, according to Hod Goodchild, health services planner for SMCHPA.

The grant application was submitted by the Benton Harbor Recreation department. According to Goodchild, the drop-in center would "serve the very urgent need of structured recreation, socialization and the learning of daily living skills for greater independence and self-enrichment of 275 developmentally disabled youths and adults in the Benton Harbor area."

The grant was requested under a new federal Developmental Disabilities act, administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Eight From Berrien At Convention

Eight Berrien county representatives of the American Independent party attended the state convention Saturday in Battle Creek.

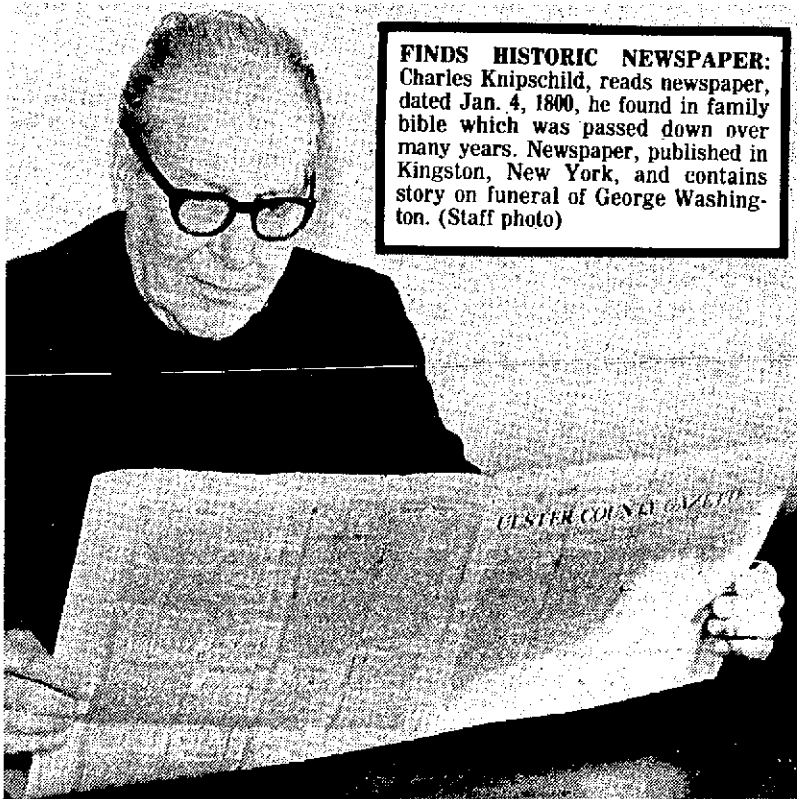

Attending the day-long convention were Karl Friske, Baroda, Berrien AIP chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Dell and Mrs. Irma Collier, all of Watervliet; Mrs. Betty Edinborough, Benton Harbor; and Mrs. Mrs. Jack Ockenga, Sodus, according to Mrs. Collier.

Vern Morris of Kent county was elected state AIP chairman during the convention held at the Hart Motor Inn, Mrs. Collier said.

Washington's Funeral Story Found In Bible

It may be traditional to keep valuable papers and old newspaper clippings in family bibles, but few people keep their artifacts as long as the Charles Knipschild family.

Knipschild, of 621 West Napier avenue, Fairplain recently found several old newspapers dated Jan. 4, 1800, in the family's bible which has been passed down through the years.

One of the newspapers, called the Uister County Gazette, published in Kingston, New York contains a story of the funeral of George Washington.

Knipschild figures this is the reason the newspapers were stashed away some 175 years ago.

Knipschild inherited the 100-year old bible containing the newspapers from his uncle, Walter Uelsman, who died about a year ago. Knipschild recently found the well-preserved newspapers dating around 1800 sandwiched between some other more recent papers.

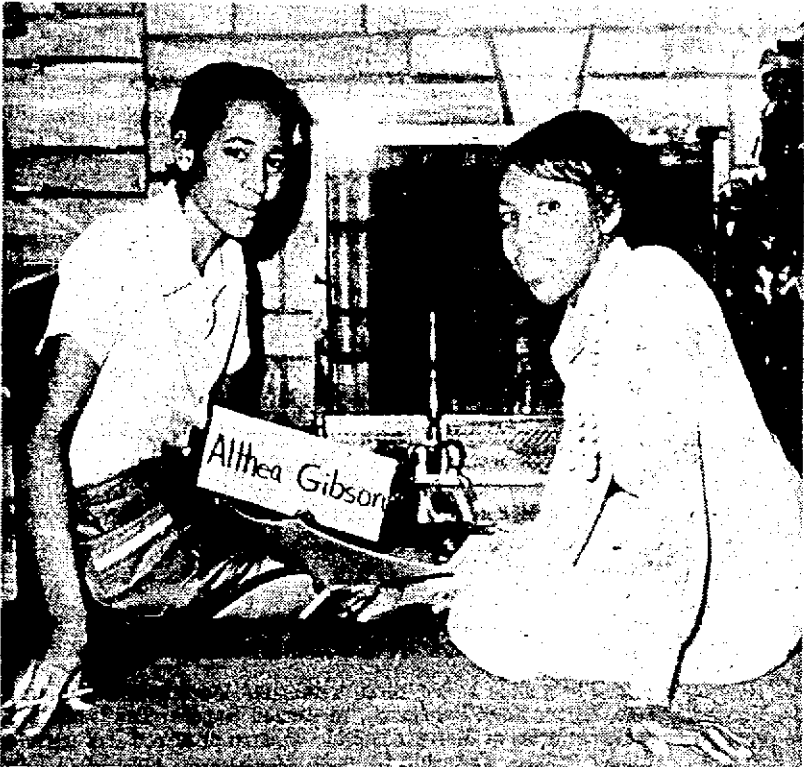

Knipschild believes the newspapers were transferred to his uncle's family bible when it was new, around 1865, from another family bible because the newspapers are still in good condition.

The 175-year old newspaper contains eulogies for Washington from then-President John Adams. It also contains month-old reports of the Napoleonic wars in Europe and advertisements for slaves, lost runaway bulls and bankruptcy sales.

Knipschild said he has no plans for the 175-year old time capsule except to have the newspapers encased in plastic for preservation and possibly give them to the library for a while to study.

Mrs. Rex Westhauser is chairman of the event from which proceeds will be used towards the building fund. The public is invited.

Booths will include white elephant, baked goods, fancy work and food.

Report In Spring

Seventh In Series Of 12

Reporting to bigger pots should be done only when the plant shows signs of being cramped.

Putting plants in pots that are too big encourages root growth instead of leaf growth.

Determining cramped conditions isn't always easy. Look for yellowing lower leaves (if you haven't been overwatering), new leaves that come in smaller than average size or droopy leaves between waterings.

If you are still uncertain about reporting, when the plant is slightly wet, gently hold the stem, tap the pot lightly around the edges and pull it out for examination. If the roots are thickly packed on the outside and show the shape of the pot, it is time to report.

The best time of year to transplant is spring when new growth is beginning, rather than winter when plants become dormant.

Use a container that is about two inches wider and two inches deeper than the original. Try

Dieters Can Indulge Appetite With Potatoes

Potatoes may be the best friend an appetite ever had. Statisticians have computed that every American will eat his way through about 120 pounds of potatoes this year.

Contrary to popular belief, dieters can indulge their appetite with potatoes. Potatoes contain virtually no fat, and do not contain many more calories than an apple of equal size. But when butter or sour cream, or other fats are added, the calories mount quickly.

Another good thing about potatoes is that they contain a wide range of nutrients in valuable amounts. They supply almost 20 per cent of the vitamin C in the United States, food supply and are second only to citrus in that respect.

Also, when starch such as those in potatoes are substituted for sugar in the diet, appetite is reduced.

Variations in preparing potatoes are endless. Some potato dishes are almost constant companions to other foods. For example, French fries with hamburgers or steak, hash browns with eggs and bacon, baked with roast beef and mashed — a statistical all time favorite. Try them au gratin, in stews, potato salads.

Serve them often for good health, good menus, sound budgets and substantial meals. They have a lot to give besides calories.

According to marketing specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, there is a plentiful supply of potatoes to satisfy those appetites.

Married Saturday

Miss Lois M. Vande Pol and William A. Simpson exchanged wedding vows Saturday, Feb. 8, in the First Congregational church, St. Joseph. The Rev. Robert C. Waters performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Vande Pol, McBain. The groom is the son of Roger E. Simpson, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Richard Troyer, Fort Pierce, Fla.

The bride wore an empire gown of Americanine designed with a flared skirt and trimmed with venise lace. Matching lace trimmed her chapel length mantilla veil and she carried a lavender and white orchid, miniature lavender carnations, baby's breath and stephanotis.

Miss Barbara Szeluga was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Steven Rumanick and Miss Debra Vande Pol.

Kellie Simpson was flower girl and Jack Vande Pol was ringbearer.

Serving as best man was Wayne Wycoff. Ushers were Roger D. Simpson, brother of the groom, John Damaske and Herman and William Vande Pol, brothers of the bride.

A reception was held at the Greenville Country club.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will make their home at 518 North Camburn, Stanton.

The bride is a graduate of Northern Michigan Christian high school and Blodgett Memorial hospital School of Nursing. She is supervisor of the intensive and coronary care units at Ionia County Memorial hospital.

MARKETING WITH MARYANN Use Coupons Wisely

If you've been carefully reading magazines, newspaper ads and food store flyers, you're seeing more and more coupons offered than ever before.

It's to your advantage to use as many as you can, but use them wisely, advises Maryann Beckman, Food Marketing Agent, for they can either save you money or cost you more.

Coupons are not new, for the coupon idea itself can be traced back at least to 1895 when C.W. Post offered a penny refund on a new cereal product called Grape Nuts. From then on, the use of coupons increased as a merchandising tool, though it wasn't until the latter part of the 1940's that coupons were generally used throughout stores and product lines.

During the last year or two, the use of coupons has noticeably increased; it's estimated that over 50 billion were distributed last year alone.

Why the bigger push all of a sudden? Simple economics. Food manufacturers and retailers are just as hard hit by the cost-price squeeze as you are. They want to keep you coming to their stores and to buy their products so are trying to offer you all the help they can. It's a fact of human nature that all of us are enticed by "cents off" promotions of any kind and especially during times when prices are higher than we'd like them to be.

Coupons can save you money, if you use them wisely, so it pays to know how best to use them and to guard against the pitfalls that could cost you more. Clipping out every coupon you see and buying all the advertised products will result in increased spending, rather than savings. If it's a product you don't like or really can't use in the proper storage time, it is no bargain at all.

Some store coupons are good only when you make a certain dollar purchase in the store, so watch that you aren't making a trip to that store just to take advantage of the coupon. If you are, chances are you'll spend $5 to $10 more on other foods you really don't need and find that you've "splurged" more than you've saved.

Best way to take advantage of the coupons is to use some self-discipline in redeeming them. If the coupons offer money off or refunds on products you normally buy and need, you can save money. But again, be cautious. If you don't really need the product right away, use your self-discipline. That currently couponed product may be even cheaper in a few weeks or months when you really need it most. The glitter of "cents off" often blinds us to reality.

Use some etiquette when redeeming coupons too. Most stores accept coupons for only the items or brands purchased, so play fair. Some have expiration dates too, so check before you buy. Store managers and checkers suggest that you place the coupons for a product with that product as you take it from your cart, rather than just handing over a handful of coupons after all items are checked through.

Neither you nor the checker can remember whether you got all the proper couponed items and you both may lose. If a checker has to go back through your products, you lose time in checking out, plus it could be embarrassing to you. And if you didn't get a product because it was out-of-stock or you forgot it, and hand over your coupon anyway, you've lost money on the next purchase time.

A lot of people say they don't like to clip coupons, and maybe they don't, but a recent study by Progressive Grocer shows that redemption is way up, with 39 per cent of all consumers cashing coupons on their most recent trip to the supermarket, versus only 44 per cent a year ago.

So clip away for savings, but clip and redeem wisely.

Education Opens Many Doors

EAST LANSING — A broad general education, plus a variety of skills, opens many doors Dr. Mildred Erickson, East Lansing, told mid-Michigan business women participating in an institute sponsored by the Michigan State University Business Women's club Saturday.

Fortunately, the assistant dean for continuing education of MSU's university college said, women are increasingly free to make choices — and to find help in the process.

"It is known statistically that women can plan on a life span of 75 to 76 years," said the educator who returned to her profession after her husband's death and an absence of 20 years, and who is now devoting a large share of her energies to helping other women to do the same.

"A recent researcher has found that 'Everyone's growth noises reach their first crescendo between the ages of 29 and 32,'" she told a surprised audience, and she added that "growth noises continue to surface year after year."

She urged the women from university staff, government, business, industry and voluntary agencies, as well as those presently confined to home, child-rearing, to continue their educations and to broaden their scope with every year that passes.

"A number of offices and individuals at Michigan State university can help you to sort out your talents and interests and help you to match them to educational and job areas," she continued. Dr. Erickson outlined many advisory and counseling services on the MSU campus.

"We have a bag full of success stories of women returning to college and to work to give you encouragement," she declared.

Sees Demand For Canning Supplies

MUNCIE, Ind. — Ball Corp., a major producer of home canning supplies, said today it is anticipating another season of strong demand for home canning supplies and is presently manufacturing around-the-clock.

John W. Fisher, president and chief executive officer, said, "We cannot say with absolute certainty that there will be adequate home canning supplies in the 1975 canning season, but we can assure home canners that Ball is doing its best to manufacture an increased amount."

It is difficult to accurately determine buying trends for the coming canning season, Fisher said, but Ball does expect demand to be strong again in 1975, as it was in 1973 and 1974.

Production lines are operating seven days a week and three shifts a day at Ball home canning supply manufacturing sites, according to W. Stanley Stuart, Jr., vice president of consumer products. He said Ball is allocating its production to customers on the basis of customers' past sales and to accommodate the growing-harvest season in the particular region.

"Allocation shouldn't be confused with shortage, because our allocation to distributors really represents an increase from what we've sold to them before," Stuart said.

He said consumers can help by purchasing only the supplies they need.

Demand for home canning supplies is affected by several factors, Stuart explained. Crop-ruining floods, frost or drought can reduce canning activity in one region, while favorable growing conditions can increase the amount of home canning activity in another region.

"These factors are watched very closely by our distributors, who try to have canning supplies in stock in a region when they are needed," he said. Ball's headquarters in Muncie has received thousands of mail and telephone inquiries from customers wanting to buy directly from Ball.

"Our products are distributed through wholesalers and chain purchasing organizations that distribute to retail stores, he said. "This method of distribution is the best manner by which we can serve all geographic areas of the country and it is the least expensive method for the consumer."

"If we had to set up a mail order department with hundreds of people to pack jars, lids and bands for mailing, then paid the postage for getting the products to the consumer, the consumer's cost for these supplies would increase intolerably," he said.

Should a home canning supply shortage develop this summer, Stuart said some gardeners may choose to freeze crops. "For this we produce plastic freezer boxes and bags, which should be in good supply throughout the canning season."

Ball has manufactured home canning supplies since 1884.

Washing Dishes Isn't Answer

In an effort to find possible solutions to the energy crisis, one book is pushing for the theory that the family who washes dishes together stays together.

I find this hard to believe in view of the fact that our children take turns washing dishes and to get out of your turn you must present a certificate of death...a recent one.

In fact, we have never been what you might call your close-knit family...even at the dinner table. The last time someone had his arm around another, our son had a chicken bone caught in his throat. My daughter grabbed him, horror written on her face and she screamed hysterically, "For the love of heaven! Someone help him! He's choking to death and it's his turn for dishes!"

"I think we ought to give the theory a chance," I said to the children the other night after dinner. "Maybe it would be fun to all pitch in and do the dishes together," I said my eyes glistening.

"Terrific!" said my son, "then we could all go in and brush our teeth with baking soda like the Waltons."

"Don't be cute. We could sing a few songs and share our day with one another," I said.

"I clear," said a son, "and then I can split, right?"

"I'm not drying," said the other, "Because SHE never gets them clean and I'm sick of rinsing the food off HER dishes."

"I can't wash," said my daughter. "It splits my nails so I'll take out the garbage if SOMEONE brings back the cans from the street and returns them to the garage."

"Can't we hurry it up? I've got homework."

"She can wait, El Greepo, I just saw you put a casserole in the refrigerator with only one piece of macaroni in it."

"So, butt out. I may want it before I go to bed."

"If they're not clean, I'm putting them right back on your side of the sink."

"You do and I'll bend your mouth!"

As my husband and I feebly attempted to sing "Rock of Ages," one of the kids said, "I think we should go back to the old way of initials on the calendar. One night it's B's turn, the next night M's and the next time A's."

"Children! Children!" I shouted. "Think togetherness and remember, 'Charity starts with your own brother.'"

And then I remembered Cain and Abel...and realized with horror it was probably A's night to do dishes.

Family Film Night

Wild animals, Laurel and Hardy, and a Japanese fairy tale are subjects of movies to be shown Tuesday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m. for Family Film Night at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library, St. Joseph.

"Animals Unlimited" tours Kruger National Park in South Africa; "Putting Pants on Phillip" is something different for Laurel and Hardy — Stan is a Scotsman named Phillip on a visit to the United States, being held in line by Ollie. "Moonbeam Princess," a Japanese fairy tale, is an animated film of a princess sent to earth on a moonbeam.

A story hour for preschool through second grade children will be held Saturday, Feb. 15, at 11 a.m.

Glass blown articles in the display case for the month of February are through the courtesy of Jerry Catania.

A collection of auction catalogues from Sotheby and Parks Bernet are also on display at the library.

New books at the library are "The Rainbow Men," Douglas Sheldon; "The Crouching Future: International Politics and U.S. Foreign Policy" by Roger Hillsman, and "Secrets of the Great French Restaurants" by Louisette Bertholle.

GVSC Student In Play

Kent L. Goetz, Grand Valley State colleges junior from Stevensville, will portray Uriah Shelley in Grand Valley's college of arts and sciences theatre department's production of "A Man's a Man," Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 13, 14 and 15 at 8:15 p.m. Performances will be held in the campus center performing space.

Tickets at the door are $2 general and $1.50 for students.

The performances of Bert Brecht's comedy are directed by Dr. William Z. Iron, chairman of the GVSC theatre department, assisted by Margaret Barbrick, Grand Valley student.

Goetz, a graduate of Lakeshore high school, has performed in several theatre presentations, including the Mime Circus at GVSC.

Spring Look

Lighter clothes of a brighter stripe say spring is on the way. Twin sweater sets of cardigans over bare tops, and suits with the new look of flared skirts and matching bigtops are especially important in stripes, says the February Seventeen magazine.

Denim is here, of course, but now in a variety of skirty shapes. A bib-front jumper with the casual charm of overalls pairs up with a madras shirt, and a jacket shaped like a shirt goes over a full patch skirt with buttons down the front. There's a different pants look, too: railroad-striped rolled-up overalls and a matching roll-sleeve bigsmock.

Sweater sets, in bright or pastel colors striped with white, have a soft, feminine feeling. Many cardigans have short sleeves, and the tube, tank or strapped tops are bare enough to wear right into summer. Some of the pastels become even lighter looking with pointed or crocheted details. One very new long cardigan is gathered at the waist and wrists for an all-over effect of softness.

Suiting-up means pairing the newest looks in bigtops — long or short jackets, sashed pullovers — with matching swingy skirts. Stripes, in crayon brights or pastels, run up and down, sideways, or are mottled in a neat slant.

‘Your Problems’ By Ann Landers

Figures Lie; Liars Figure

Dear Ann Landers: I want to rebut your statement to a woman who wrote and asked whether or not she should have an abortion. You stated your position on abortion, but added, "If abortion is against your religion, or if you feel in your heart that it is murder, I urge you NOT to do it. The guilt might cause you a lifetime of agony."

I am enclosing a magazine article entitled, "Abortion: No Lasting Emotional Scars." It deals with a book written by an obstetrician and a psychologist and states clearly that an abortion rarely damages a woman's emotional health. In fact, the opposite is true. It often brings improvement.

The article also cites facts and figures from other experts. They report "seventy per cent of the women said they were very happy about their abortions. Only three per cent said they were sad." These are extremely good odds no matter what the books who write to you say.

I know this letter will go into the wastebasket because you don't like to be challenged by people who have the facts and figures. — One Of The 70 Per Cent

Dear One: Figures lie and liars figure. I don't believe that only three per cent are sad. I stand by my original statement: If abortion is against your religion, or if you feel you risk a lifetime of guilt by choosing this solution to your "problem."

ANN LANDERS

Sister Stronger

Dear Ann Landers: I must comment on the letter from "Bothered And Bewildered" because her daughter Nancy is identical to ours, only we had an added problem — drugs.

My husband and I went through hell trying to get that girl straightened out. Nothing worked. Finally, my sister, who lives 350 miles away, asked if she could take our daughter "for a while." My misgivings were the same as Nancy's parents', but out of sheer desperation, we said yes.

Within three months there was a tremendous change in that child — a complete turnaround of her behavior and attitude. We visited her last weekend and were amazed.

Please, tell "Bothered" two things: (1) She hasn't lost a daughter. Nancy will be back. (2) The pressure removed from the parents is an absolute blessing. Separation gives both parents and child a completely different perspective. It turns out that my sister was a lot stronger than I thought. — L.A. Mother

Dear Mother: Thanks for your supportive letter. I got plenty of heat for suggesting that Nancy be housed "elsewhere." Some "experts" called it "rejection," others called it "abandonment."

Sometimes parents and children need a rest from each other and a change of scenery can work wonders.

Warm Thought

Dear Ann Landers: This is for "Harem" — the mother of three daughters.

When I gave birth to my fourth girl baby, I went into a depression. Although my husband never said so, I felt sure he wanted a boy.

A friend sent a note to the hospital which read, "God must have known how much you loved little girls to send you four."

Whenever I wonder what life would have been like if we had had a son, I remember those words and feel warm all over. — Content In K.C.

Dear K.C.: How nice! There were four girls in our family and my mother always said she wished she had had four more.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Schedule Banquet

Feb. 12

DECATUR — The annual father and son banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 12, at First United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Charles Smith is chairman of the family style roast beef dinner.

The Women's association of the church is sponsoring the banquet, according to Mrs. Blaine Rex, president. Mrs. Bruce Wolf is in charge of table decorations and Mrs. Gordon Klum is in charge of advance ticket sales.

Blaine Rex will be master of ceremonies for the program which will follow the dinner.

HOMEMADE DUSTCLOTH — Make your own throw-away dustcloth by polishing a few drops of furniture polish on a paper napkin. Does an excellent job of dusting, too.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1975

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) In both thoughts and actions, be careful not to overstep bounds or underestimate your opponents. If you observe these admonitions, you should have a dandy day.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) Certain matters in which you are interested need an extra push now. Get to them immediately. And, in all things, emphasize forethought, precision, tact.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) A generally good day, but you may run into a few obstacles — which COULD be caused by your own procrastination, disinterest or skepticism. Avoid such negative approaches.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) There's much more to this day than you may realize at first. Go forth and find that new opportunity you want and tackle it vigorously. Avoid extremes, however.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) Some brand new opportunities indicated. Your day should be active, stimulating. In all dealings, however, stress diplomacy.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Give sufficient time to due responsibilities, less to outside interests which only interfere with your progress. Be resolute, but not abrupt, with associates.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Curb a tendency toward pessimism now. No matter what disappointments you may encounter, keep on plugging. Try to pattern your day after previous successful ones.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) You are left pretty much on your own to decide on the best means to gain benefits, but deliberations and conclusions MUST be accurate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) You may feel too closely regimented or fret that your best ideas are "not accepted." Curb such thoughts and carry on smilingly. In 24 hours, generous influences will bring reward.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Prevailing influences indicate the possibility of some deception in your area. Be alert, and ready to counteract with firmness. About all, avoid those who have deceived you before.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can reap something of a harvest from past efforts, but don't let up now. Continued striving will bring still greater rewards.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You will wind up "in the red" on day's balance sheet if you do not think and function completely right from the start. By directing energies smartly, however, you can achieve much.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great ambition, unusual versatility and an extremely outgoing personality. Once you have developed your talents and learned the value of self-discipline, you will brush obstacles from your path in an outstanding climb to great accomplishment. You have a brilliant wit, which makes you a delightful conversationalist, but be careful not to use it too sharply. Other traits to curb: hypersensitivity and excessive volatility. Fields in which you could excel: literature, science, invention, music, the graphic arts. Birthdate of: Thomas Alva Edison, noted inventor.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My hands become red, irritated and itchy as soon as I get to the factory on Monday morning. It seems to disappear towards the end of the week and starts again on Monday.

Mrs. E.V., Ga.

Dear Mrs. V.: This is a common story told by people who work with chemicals and dyes.

The condition you describe seems to be a "contact dermatitis." When one is sensitive or allergic to any irritating substance the skin becomes beefy red, itching, swollen and painful.

Anyone who has ever had poison ivy or sumac poisoning recognizes such a skin reaction.

I don't understand why the irritation disappears as the week goes on. I do understand that lack of exposure to the offending substance can explain why you feel better over weekends.

It takes intensive detective work on the part of an allergist to track down the offender. But in your case, you have pinpointed the problem yourself. Obviously, it is something that you are exposed to at the factory.

If you can eliminate, one by one, the dyes, chemicals or irritating substances, you may solve your own problem. If not, work with an allergist to find the cause of your contact dermatitis.

Are there valid medical reasons why a girl who is menstruating should avoid sports or swimming?

Miss E.F., W.V.

Dear Miss F.: Many myths still exist about menstruation. For centuries, superstitions have continued about this normal function.

Unless there are severe abdominal cramps, or other annoying symptoms, there really is no danger in indulging in sports in moderation.

Esthetic reasons, rather than medical dangers, keep most women out of the water during the menstrual period.

Even in this enlightened era, it is surprising how frequently new misconceptions arise and are handed down from generation to generation.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Children can be trained to take medicine without making a great deal of fuss. When they understand they have no choice, and that the medicine is beneficial, they soon learn to take it and get it over with.

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman, in care of this newspaper.

Rebates Helped, But Auto Stockpiles Are Still High

DIES: Nightclub singer Felicia Sanders died of cancer in her home in New York City's borough of Manhattan Friday. She was 53. Miss Sanders became internationally known in the mid-1950s with her recording of "The Song from Moulin Rouge." (AP Wirephoto)

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry's mountain of unsold cars was a little smaller at the end of January, the first decline in stock since the disastrous 1975 model year began last September.

But despite costly rebate programs and extensive production cutbacks, the auto makers still had more than three months' worth of unsold cars crammed into dealer and factory lots on Feb. 1.

The industry considers a two-month backlog sufficient; anything more is burdensome. It isn't likely that substantial worker recalls will begin until the inventory is reduced.

The car companies will have 14 assembly plants closed this week and 208,000 of their 684,000 blue-collar workers on indefinite layoff, the most since the severe auto sales slump began last October.

According to Ward's Automotive Reports, the industry's statistical service, the companies have 1.55 million cars in stock, compared with about 1.7 million a month ago.

Based on the January daily sales rate, the current inventory translates to a 93-day industry supply. Last month's 100-day supply was an industry record.

Industry executives say the $200 to $600 rebates the companies are offering on some of their new models have helped make a dent in the inventory by spurring sluggish sales.

With the rebate plans in effect, the sales rate in late January was nearly double the early month rate. Even so, sales were a 14-year low for January, and auto chiefs hesitated to predict a sales rebound.

The rebates have come at a high price for the companies, considering their limited impact on sales during the current recession. The firms have not said they lose money on the rebate sales, but they do concede they aren't making any money either.

Ford Motor Co. has said it is offering discounts only for a limited time because there's little profit left to throw away in the form of a discount. An American Motors executive told shareholders last week that the current quarter would be bleak in part because, "We are bearing the penalty of large price rebates in order to retain a competitive position in the market."

Some industry executives are hoping the rebates are adding a stimulus to the market that will last once the discounts end. Others fear sales will nose-dive again when the price incentives are over.

Meanwhile, auto production has fallen off to a snail's pace. January output was the lowest for the month since 1961 and February production was expected to be down 8 per cent from January.

Ward's says Chrysler's inventory of models fell from a 136-day glut last December to 107 days.

Civil Service Panel Member Leaving Post

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — James W. Miller is resigning from the Michigan Civil Service Commission, and is the second commissioner to quit the panel in the past two months.

Miller, 62, retired president of Western Michigan University and a former state comptroller, said Friday he would get back into the education field, probably in Washington. He said he will know by March 1 whether he will get a job with the American Association of Universities.

He plans to leave his current post March 14.

Bay City attorney Richard Smith resigned from the commission effective last Dec. 31. Miller's departure will reduce the commission to two members, leaving it unable to function unless Gov. William Milliken appoints at least one new member.

Miller, who served as president at WMU from 1961 to 1974, said he would head a special project on innovation in education if selected by the AAU.

BH Officer's Nose Broken In Fracas

A Benton Harbor patrolman suffered a broken nose in a fracas at an Empire avenue home that resulted in the arrest of three people Saturday evening.

Patrolman George Hawblitzel was treated for a broken nose and bruises of the face and legs, and released from Mercy hospital.

Booked and lodged at the county jail on charges of resisting arrest were Harry L. Bolton, 21, of 1895 Plympton avenue, Benton township, and his wife, Patricia Ann Bolton, 20, of 700 East Washington street, Benton Harbor.

Another man, John Frazier, 32, of South Haven, was arrested for allegedly obstructing a police officer.

Bolton was also treated at Mercy hospital for a cut on the head.

Hawblitzel reported he went to a home at 258 East Empire at 8:05 p.m. after receiving a report of a family fight at that address. The house was reportedly rented by Mary Ervin, police said.

Hawblitzel reported he was struck in the face by a man and as he tried to subdue the man with a chemical spray he was attacked by a woman and some children.

Other officers were called to the scene, and Hawblitzel and Patrolmen Nick Stama and James Spalo subdue the man by force and the woman with a chemical spray.

Officers reported a table was demolished, a six-foot bar was torn loose and overturned and a shelf was knocked down during the fracas.

A Twin Cities cab driver told police a man got into his cab Saturday night, apologized for pointing a sawed-off rifle at him, then demanded all his money.

Kenneth Jaqua, 28, of 605 Sherwood, Three Oaks, told Benton Harbor police he was robbed of $25 after being dispatched to pick up a fare waiting in the 300 block of McCord street at about 8:30 p.m.

Jaqua said the man was waiting on the curb, got into the cab and pointed a .22 caliber sawed-off rifle at him.

Police reported the bandit told Jaqua: "Sorry about that. Give me all your money."

The bandit escaped on foot, police said.

Benton Harbor police over the weekend investigated a burglary in a home, described by officers as "totally ransacked" by thieves.

Reported stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Johnson, 360 East May street, were $289 in cash, and a suit, watch and cuff links worth $234.

Reported stolen also, but recovered, were a television set and stereophonic equipment valued at about $1,113. Police said these items were found by officers who followed footprints in the snow to a shed nearby.

The burglary was reported by Mrs. Johnson when she returned home and found the house in disarray about 2:20 p.m. Friday.

St. Joseph township police arrested two people over the weekend and recovered property stolen last month from a township insurance office.

Police also recovered items stolen from a Benton township motorcycle shop after information was received in the insurance burglary investigation.

Arrested over the weekend on a charge of breaking and entering was Kirt Marvin Ullig, 18, of 774 Lynwood drive, St. Joseph township.

A 16-year-old boy was also arrested.

Police reported that property valued at an estimated $400 and stolen from Brink Insurance, 1804 Colfax, on Jan. 12, was recovered. Police reported a safe containing rare coins and currency was dragged through a door by an auto pulling it with a chain.

Township police also recovered property valued at an estimated $1,400 stolen Sept. 29 from Larsen's Cycle Shop, 2072 Plaza drive, Benton township.

The property was found buried in plastic bags behind a home, police reported.

Benton Harbor police reported a 12-year-old girl was allegedly raped while she was visiting a friend who was baby sitting Friday night.

The alleged rape was reported to police Sunday because the girl said she was afraid to tell her parents, police said.

The girl told police she was visiting a friend, who had left the house for a short while. She said a man entered the house during this time, dragged her into the bedroom and raped her. She said the man then left, police reported.

Police were still investigating.

Berrien county sheriff's deputies arrested a Benton Harbor man on a charge of possession of marijuana Saturday after stopping him for driving with a headlight out.

Booked and lodged at the county jail was Larry Purnell, 26, of 290 Burton street.

Purnell was stopped at Main street at Oden street, in Benton Harbor, deputies reported. A small plastic bag of suspected marijuana was found, deputies said.

A Watervliet woman told Berrien sheriff's deputies a man and a woman knocked on her door Sunday, then stabbed and kicked her.

Deputies reported Peggy Gray, Route 2, Dannelhof road, Watervliet, sustained numerous lacerations.

Deputies are seeking a man about 19 and a woman about 17. Both were described as having black shoulder-length hair, deputies said. No motive for the attack was known.

Deputies said the woman came to the door and attacked Peggy Gray with a knife. A man reportedly then entered and kicked her in the side. Both fled, deputies said.

Thomas Thompson told Berrien sheriff's deputies Saturday that BB pellets were fired through the passenger side window of his car parked at his residence, 5318 Cleveland avenue, Stevensville.

Willie Sanders, 61, of 141 North Seely street, Benton Harbor, told city police Saturday he was cut about the hand by a man who attacked him at the corner of East Main and Fifth streets for no apparent reason.

Officers were called to Mercy hospital at 7:12 a.m. Sanders said he could provide no description of the assailant. Sanders was reported treated with five stitches to the left hand and released.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police over the weekend were:

—A leather coat, valued at $159, owned by Mary Heglar and stolen from the kitchen of her place of employment, the Milner restaurant, 250 East Main street.

—A stereo and a watch, valued at a total of $220, from the home of Paula Booker, 470 Foster.

—A television valued at $100 and $15 cash from the home of Sarah Zielke, 341 Pipestone.

Berrien Sheriff's deputies reported a stereo system valued at $225 was taken from the home of Margie Smith, 4131 Maplewood drive, Bridgman. Deputies said there was no sign of forced entry.

POLICE EXPERT: Pickpocket Is A Dying Breed

By CHRIS J. HARPER
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Pickpockets may be a vanishing breed, at least the skillful ones, a police expert says.

"There are only about a half-dozen pickpockets in Chicago who are any good," Lt. Robert Casey said in a recent interview. "They're oldtimers who can go in the inside, suit-jacket pocket."

"We don't arrest them very often, and when we do it's tough to get them convicted. They go after the out-of-towners because they know the victims won't stick around to prosecute them."

No figures are kept on pickpocketing, which is a felony in Illinois. But the job isn't so easy these days, mainly because of more tightly fitted clothing and public awareness, Casey said.

Muscle and violence have replaced skill and dexterity, said Casey, head of the First District Tactical Unit in downtown Chicago.

"Purse snatching is a teenage crime mainly in the ghettos," he said. "It's also not the work of a thief as much as a man who's broke, takes a purse, and runs."

Pickpockets prey mostly on women, particularly during the Christmas season and winter, he said. Department stores, airline terminals, bus stops, and train stations are the usual havens and $15 is the typical score in addition to credit cards, he added.

The Chicago Police Department disbanded its pickpocket squad in 1961, but tactical units investigate when an outbreak occurs.

Casey recalled such an outbreak in Chicago in September 1973. Casey's unit arrested 42 Colombian nationals for conspiracy to commit crime.

Some admitted they were part of an operation involving 300 pickpockets and confidence artists trained at a crime school in Bogota and given new identities as Puerto Ricans in San Juan.

About 100 came to the United States at a single time. They emptied pockets in New York, Buffalo, and Cleveland and the operation was about ready to move West when they were caught, Casey said.

But they jumped bail and were never tried. "They may be out there somewhere, but I don't think they'll come back here," he said.

Wide Lapel Has 'Stabilized'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Men who want to be with it won't be able to haul their narrow-lapel suits out of mothballs for at least two more years, say top executives of the menswear industry.

Norman Karr, executive director of the Men's Fashion Association, said the wide-lapel, long-coat version of men's suits has "stabilized."

However, Karr said that other tailoring variations such as deeper side vents, or no vents, or belted jackets will be the thing in the coming season.

Subdued colors and coordinated outfits dominated showings Sunday at the concluding session of five days of male style previews conducted here.

Meany Predicts Unemployment Rate To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the latest unemployment figure standing at 8.2 per cent, AFL-CIO President George Meany says the rate could climb to 10 per cent by July.

"We're past a recession. We're going into a depression," he said Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation."

To cope with the surge in jobless Americans, Meany said there should be more public service jobs, public works grants and prompt congressional action on tax relief.

"We're now fighting a war to preserve our way of life ... and we have people in Congress and the White House who seem insensitive to the problems of the American people," Meany said.

The government reported last week that unemployment in January climbed to 8.2 per cent of the work force, the highest since the end of the Depression in 1941 when it averaged 8.8 per cent for the full year. There were 55.9 million persons in the work force that year. Today the work force totals about 91 million.

The Ford administration's most recent forecast is for an 8.5 jobless rate later this year.

Meany also called for 6 per cent mortgages to help revive the housing industry. He said 6 per cent loans are made in the Soviet Union and should be available to Americans.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., chairman of the House Banking Committee, said he felt Meany's call for 6 per cent credit might be asking too much.

"I'd like to get the mortgage rate down to 8 per cent on its way to 7 per cent," Reuss said on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Meanwhile, a report by the staff of the Congressional Joint Economic Committee put the finger on taxation as a major culprit in the inflation spiral. It said a family earning $12,626 in 1973 had to spend an extra $1,840 in 1974 just to maintain its standard of living, paying out $379 more for food, $393 more for housing and $145 more for transportation.

A typical middle-income family also could expect a 25 per cent increase in federal, state and local taxes, with its tax burden rising from $1,607 in 1973 to $2,033 last year, the report said.

In the same period, Social Security taxes rose 22 per cent, it said. The report prompted Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of the committee, to observe: "This is the first recession in history in which the tax burden on families and individuals has increased."

Niles Township Vote Official's Pay Hike Vetoed

NILES — A $4,000 pay raise sought by Niles township Supervisor John McDonald was defeated by voters in a special meeting held Saturday afternoon at the township hall south of here.

Bus Loses In Race With Train

TULTEPEC, Mexico (AP) — A line of gray wooden coffins in the auditorium between Tultepec's town hall and the 16th century church held the bodies today of 30 townspeople killed when a freight train smashed into their bus.

Twenty-seven persons were injured, some critically, in the collision Saturday night 30 miles north of Mexico City.

"The driver obviously tried to beat the train to the crossing and failed," a police officer at the scene said.

About 300 township voters gathered in the hall to reject the pay raise by a margin of 191 to 109. McDonald's pay currently is $8,000 annually.

Reached at his home Sunday night, McDonald said he would remain in office for the remainder of the two-year term. He said earlier he would consider resigning the post if voters rejected the pay hike and then applying for the job of township assessor, which pays more.

McDonald had sought the pay increase to cover the costs of assuming the township assessing duties himself since returning to office last November. He campaigned for re-election promising to take over the township assessor's duties and eliminating the salary for the post of almost $20,000. Even with the pay hike, bringing his salary to $12,000, McDonald said he would have saved the township about $10,000 yearly.

McDonald said he would continue to perform assessing duties only until a new assessor could be found, claiming Saturday's vote indicated voters wanted the two posts to remain separate. Saturday's meeting followed a stormy week in the township that saw police chief John A. Schoff resign and a trainee assessor hired with federal funds also quit his post amid protests from area residents.

Schoff had blamed McDonald for triggering the resignation, a charge that McDonald denied.

Friend Says Nixon Lonely, Drained

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon, his transition from a private citizen now officially completed, is a lonely man tormented by the scandal that led him to resign, a friend says.

"This man is so drained, so emasculated that I dare say it will not be months, it will be years, if indeed he recovers," Rabbi Baruch Korff told reporters here Sunday.

Sunday marked six months since Nixon stepped down because of the Watergate scandal, and with it came the loss of most of his staff, his fleet of 11 cars and his office complex.

On Saturday night Nixon and his wife, Pat, hosted a party at his seaside villa for the departing staff, and some of those present said the former president looked more tan and fit than he had in recent months. Korff suggested, however, that Nixon's mood was less cheerful than it might have appeared.

"He made a serious effort to convey an impression of gregariousness, hope, and even humor because he felt so strongly that he did not want the staff to leave in sadness," Korff said.

Korff said he did not attend the private party because he had visited the former chief executive earlier Saturday and didn't want to be pained by "the extreme effort that I knew he would undertake to shield from his employees his frustration and unhappiness."

Korff said Nixon has "profound regrets" about the Watergate scandal and has acknowledged it was because of the scandal that he resigned on Aug. 9. But the rabbi was not more specific about Nixon's "regrets."

"President Nixon is a lonely and troubled man," said Korff, who heads the President Nixon Justice Fund, which is trying to raise money to pay the former chief executive's bills.

He said Nixon still owes a balance of $175,000 on his total legal expenses of $275,000, and about $23,000 on a $34,000 medical bill. Korff said the Justice Fund, which already paid $100,000 of the legal tab, has only about $10,700 left.

Muskie Plans In 'Animation'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says he is in a state of suspended animation about a 1976 race for the presidency and is laying plans to run for re-election to the Senate next year while leaving open "the possibility that might change."

In an hour-long, often philosophical interview in his office, the lanky Maine Democrat said he plans to spend 1975 as "a full-time senator," looking ahead to the 1976 Senate race in Maine.

But he conceded the lure of the presidency remains after his 1972 bid, noting that "having been reasonably close to it once, there's some chemistry about the whole thing that keeps you drawn to it."

"I can think of all sorts of personal and political and other reasons why my life would be complete without it," the 57-year-old Senator said. "Life isn't going to begin and end by whether I become a candidate or president or get the nomination or become president. It simply isn't."

The rambling conversation made it clear that Muskie realizes that many Democrats look to him as a possible compromise candidate for 1976 and that, according to public opinion polls, he runs stronger against President Ford than any other Democratic possibility. Those same polls, however, made Muskie the front-runner in the months before the 1972 presidential primaries, but his showing soon faded.

"I find it hard to believe that at that point, anybody who has made no effort at all could come in and get it," he said, though he conceded that perhaps Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., could.

Machinists Walk Away From Jobs At Douglas

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

About 19,000 production workers have struck McDonnell Douglas Corp. facilities in Missouri and California, including a St. Louis plant which builds F4 Phantom jets and the new F15 fighters.

About 12,000 workers represented by Machinists Union District 837 walked out at midnight Sunday in St. Louis, saying their demands for increased wages and benefits were not met.

Company officials said a strike would force production to slow and then cease. A few planes ready for final assembly and flight testing would be completed but the rest would remain unfinished, said George Graff, president of the subsidiary McDonnell Aircraft Co.

About 7,000 workers walked out in California. Picketing was reported at facilities in Santa Monica, Huntington Beach, Torrance, Vandenberg Air Force Base and Palmdale.

Company spokesman Charles Chappell said production of the F4 fighter would be affected.

But he said most work would continue because a majority of the 11,000 workers at the Long Beach production facility were members of the nonstriking United Auto Workers.

It was not immediately known if workers at the company's Cape Canaveral Fla. facility had joined the walkout.

Local President Cosimo Troia said about 200 union members began picketing at the plant in St. Louis which normally produces 18 F4 jets and three F15s a month.

NBC Radio Gears Network To Heavy Diet Of News

NEW YORK (AP) — Say the highest-rated radio station in town has a rock or pop music format. So do other stations, but for various reasons they're rated number two and lower in terms of audience size.

What can they do to enlarge their audience? They might consider all-news or a heavy diet of news as a substitute for their current format.

That's what NBC Radio officials are suggesting this week to stations as NBC gears up for a massive new 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week service NBC says is in effect an all-news network, complete with anchor-men.

The idea, says Jack G. Thayer, head of NBC's radio division, is to offer stations a major news service around which they can wrap their local news efforts without the heavy costs of a local all-news station.

NBC's operation, called the "NBC National News and Information Service," won't replace the NBC Radio Network's current fare of features, commentaries and newscasts, NBC officials say.

Instead, it'll be staffed, operated and sold as a separate service, offering up to 50 minutes of network news programming each hour, with six of the 30 minutes reserved for network commercials, NBC says.

The programming will include international, national and regional news as well as sports news and sports features, mini-documentaries and a special section, "Information Center of the Mind."

It'll cost about $10 million to start and run the first year, employ about 250 persons and cost each subscriber from $750 to $15,000, depending on the size of the market, NBC officials say.

NBC's 237 network affiliates and its own eight stations will be offered the service first, but if they turn it down other stations in their areas will be offered it on an exclusive basis, Thayer says.

He said NBC hopes to have 75 stations in the nation's top 100 markets signed up by mid-April, and that he has set June 1 as the "target date" for the service to begin.

NBC officials say the reason for the new operations lies partly in the massive growth of commercial radio stations in the U.S. — less than 1,000 in 1945 compared to the 7,068 now listed as on the air.

But only about 12 are all-news stations, plus about four others which use the all-news format in the morning and evening rush hours, says Russell C. Tornabene, general manager of the NBC Radio Network.

An all-news operation or a heavy emphasis on news, Thayer contends, will prove distinctive and create "new kinds of listeners, new kinds of growth" for stations whose formats now have them trailing the leading station in their markets in cumulative audience size.

Key To Israeli Strategy

'Cut 'Em Off At The Pass'

Editor's Note — The outcome of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's approaching Mideast peace talks may be determined by two defense positions in the Sinai Desert, which Israel occupies and Egypt wants back. Here's a report on their significance.

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
Associated Press Writer
MITLA PASS, Israeli-Occupied Sinai (AP) — "We'll

PASSES: Map locates Mitla and Gidi Passes; Israeli base at Refidim; and the Abu Rudeis Oilfields, all likely to be the focus of negotiations during Sec. of State Kissinger's next peace mission to the Middle East. (AP Wirephoto Map) head them off at the pass" isn't just a line from a cowboy movie. In the Middle East, heading them off at the pass is the key to Israeli strategy if war resumes with Egypt.

"The pass" refers to either of two vital openings in a chain of sandstone hills east of the Suez Canal, the Mitla Pass and the Gidi Pass.

They are the main basis for negotiations in Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's next peace mission to the Middle East.

The desert passes command the approach to the southern Suez Canal, block Egypt's entry to Israel, control the road to the Abu Rudeis oilfields, and guard Israel's main forward air and supply base at Refidim.

Israel has centered its main Sinai defenses on the two strategic defiles, and a senior Israeli officer standing atop the Mitla Pass told newsmen recently that "they are critical to security."

Egypt's President Anwar Sadat, however, has demanded that Israel return both the Mitla and Gidi passes, plus the Abu Rudeis oil installations, in return for the second-stage agreement Kissinger is seeking in the Sinai.

Premier Yitzhak Rabin of Israel has repeatedly offered to trade most of the Sinai Peninsula for a full peace pact with Egypt, but Information Minister Aharon Yariv, since resigned, added that the two passes would not be bargained away for a partial agreement.

"This chain of mountains is the most important line between the Suez Canal and Israel," said the officer at the Mitla Pass.

"For us, these passes are the best point to defend Israel. But for Egypt, the best place to defend the Suez Canal is these same mountains, these same passes," he said.

The zigzag Mitla Pass is lined with trenches, studded with secret fortifications, and littered with rusty wreckage from the 1967 Mideast war, when Israel won the Sinai Peninsula from Egypt and routed Egyptian forces from the passes. A few sun-bleached bones lie among the twisted steel.

The Mitla Pass is about 18 miles east of the Suez Canal where it flows into the Gulf of Suez. The Gidi defile is 15 miles to the north. Both lead to the central belly of Sinai.

Israeli officers explain that the passes form natural bottlenecks where small forces can hold off major attacks. The military command estimates that a battalion in Mitla or Gidi could stand up against a division.

Below the passes, the southern Sinai consists of jagged mountains unsuited to modern warfare, and the northern part of the peninsula is heavy sand dunes, easy to defend because military traffic is largely confined to the roads.

Israeli officers say that if they withdrew from Mitla and Gidi, they would need far larger forces to hold the approaches to Israel against the Egyptians.

"Our front is now 140 kilometers (84 miles) long, said one officer. "If we pull back from here, the front widens to 400 kilometers (240 miles)."

The Israelis withdrew to their present lines east of the canal following the Kissinger disengagement 13 months ago.

Radio Israel reported recently that $66 million had been spent on fortifying the new lines and another $160 million would go for minefields, antitank ditches, wire barricades, roads and outposts.

Moving back from the passes would presumably mean abandoning much of the investment.

North of the Mitla and outside the front line zone where arms are limited by the disengagement pact, Israeli forces can be seen at the ready, determined not to be caught off-guard as they were in the 1973 October war.

"All our units are on constant alert," said an area commander as armored corpsmen sprinted to their tanks on exercise. Eight Patton M48A tanks roared from their dugouts in seconds and churned through the sand.

The commander said he was waiting for new American M60 tanks, but that his older model Pattons were superior to the Russian-built equipment used by the Egyptians.

Radar scanners turned on top of sand dunes and new wire fences and minefields stretched for miles.

Like racing drivers running for a Le Mans start, artillery troops dashed to four M109 guns and moved into the desert on a mock firing exercise.

Ex-CIA Chief Admits Now He Didn't Tell It All

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former CIA Director Richard M. Helms admits he intentionally failed to tell Senate committees all he knew about CIA work in Chile and withheld information about the Nixon administration's desire to have the Marxist government of Salvador Allende overthrown.

Helms' admission was made in secret testimony last month before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. A censored version of his statements was released Sunday.

Meanwhile, the Rockefeller commission investigating domestic spying by the CIA planned to resume hearings today with testimony from James J. Angleton, former CIA counterintelligence chief, and Retired Vice Adm. William F. Raborn Jr., another former CIA director.

Angleton retired from the CIA late last year after allegations the agency kept secret files on 10,000 Americans. Raborn left the agency in 1968.

Helms appeared before the Foreign Relations Committee Jan. 22 to explain various apparent discrepancies in previously sworn statements regarding CIA operations abroad and at home.

"I felt obliged to keep some of this stuff, in other words, not volunteer a good deal of information," Helms said of his testimony in 1973 before the Foreign Relations panel and a subcommittee on multinational corporations.

Helms denied he ever knowingly lied to a congressional committee, but said, "If I have been guilty in the past of not having gone the whole way, all right."

Testifying two years ago on his nomination to be ambassador to Iran, Helms was asked if the CIA tried "to overthrow the government of Chile." Allende headed the government and died when the military staged a successful coup in 1973.

"No sir," Helms replied without elaboration.

"Did you have any money passed to the opponents of Allende," Helms was asked.

"No sir," said Helms.

"So the stories you were involved in that are wrong entirely?" Helms was asked.

"Yes sir," Helms replied.

He told the Foreign Relations panel last month he should have answered the 1973 questions "in a much more extensive way."

"I think I made one mistake in that testimony, maybe a serious mistake, but I should have probably asked either to go off the record or to have asked to discuss this matter in some other forum..." Helms said. He said disclosure of CIA operations against the Allende government could have further damaged relations between the United States and Chile.

"As far as the earlier statement is concerned, whether the agency tried to overthrow the government of Chile, I answered 'no.' I believe that is true..." Helms said.

"I know that the Nixon administration wanted it overthrown but there was no way to do it that anybody knew of..." Helms said.

He repeatedly told the committee he did not remember details of CIA expenditures in Chile. Other officials have said the Nixon administration authorized more than $8 million for covert CIA operations in Chile to help Allende's opponents in government and the press.

Food Cost Prices Outrun Allowances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail grocery costs had already climbed at least 3.8 per cent above new government food stamp allowances by the time the allowances became effective Jan. 1, an Agriculture Department study showed today.

An economy menu plan used by the department to set food stamp allocations for a needy family of four cost $159.90 in December, up from $157.20 in November. The stamp allocation, which had been $150 a month since last July 1, rose to $154 the first of the year.

Under the food stamp plan, a family buys a prescribed amount of stamps and then receives additional bonus coupons at federal cost to help boost its purchasing power at retail stores.

Meanwhile, as the nation's unemployment rate climbed to the highest level since 1941, more persons have turned to food stamps to help them through hard times. At least 17.1 million were getting stamps in December, 1.2 million more than received them to the preceding month.

According to department records, the December food stamp enrollment, which some authorities say may be conservative, was up nearly 35 per cent from 12.7 million persons getting them a year earlier.

The current law requires the Agriculture Department to revise food stamp benefits twice a year to reflect changes in grocery costs. The department's economy menu for last August was used in setting the Jan. 1 rate.

Another adjustment will be made July 1 on the basis of food costs in the economy plan this month. Barring sharp declines in retail food prices, another boost is likely.

The new economy food cost figures for December were disclosed by the department today at the request of reporters.

The spurt in food stamp enrollment is expected to push federal spending to more than $4 billion in the current fiscal year which will end June 30. Next year, Agriculture Department officials say the program could soar to more than $5 billion.

President Ford wanted to hold down spending by charging more for food stamps but Congress last week voted overwhelmingly to keep the current system. ABC-TV news reported Sunday night that Ford will not veto the congressional action but will let it become law without his signature.

Small-Scale Attacks Reported

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Only small-scale Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks were reported in the Saigon area today on the eve of the four-day Tet festival, the annual celebration of the lunar new year.

Never Too Old To Learn

By DENISE MCCOURT
The Muskegon Chronicle
MUSKEGON Heights, Mich. (AP) — Eighty-seven-year-old Octavia Burks has just learned how to print her own name, and that makes her proud.

She is the oldest among the 300 students who attend the Muskegon Heights Adult Basic Education program, and could be the oldest student in the 10-year history of the program.

"I just love it," Mrs. Burks said about her new-found education. "I just love learning and making my figures and learning how to read and write. 'Sometimes when I'm home, I just take my pencil and practice writing my ABC's.'"

Mrs. Burks signed up for classes last year, the first time she had ever been to school in her life.

"I heard about it from some of the other people here," Mrs. Burks said. "When I found out, I said 'I believe I'll go to school, too.'"

Four of Mrs. Burks children also are in the program and encouraged her to do to school.

"I came from down South," she said. "We worked in the fields in Magnolia, Ark."

"I never did go to school. The white folk, they didn't let us go to school. None of my children went to school, either. They didn't want to let us out of the fields to go to school, they never let them go, either."

"But my grandchildren, they got to go to school."

Mrs. Burks said she came to Muskegon to be with some of her family. My husband never made it up here," she said. "He died back in Magnolia. He didn't know how to read or write, either, but he could count money. He never let anyone beat him out of money."

They worked for white farmers, Mrs. Burks said, raising cotton and corn—and 13 children. Eight of them are still alive, she said.

Sometimes she washed for the white people, she said. "We spent a lot of time pretending we had something, when we really had nothing."

Now she lives on Social Security. A grandson lives with her now, and a great-grandson, Michael.

At 5, Michael is learning his letters along with his great-grandmother.

Mrs. Burks said she just had to depend on other people to do things for her.

"I wanted to buy something, I'd have to ask how much it was," she said.

Sometimes people would read to me, especially in church."

A member of Christ Temple Church, Mrs. Burks said she knows the songs by heart.

"They even had me sing a solo a while back," she said.

COLUMNIST DIES
MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP) — Robert Sylvester, 68, Broadway columnist for the New York Daily News, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack.

now," said Harlan Ritchie, animal husbandry professor at MSU. "I'm sure more are going to be born this year," he added.

Beefalo are the offspring of bison, or American buffalo, and cattle. They are raised on a large scale by a rancher in Montana and one in California, Ritchie said.

The ones in Michigan are at the dairy cattle farm of Marland Gruner in Coldwater, Ritchie said.

The beefalo have been described as fast-growing animals that are substantially cheaper to raise than regular cattle because they can handle a grass diet better. They are promoted as producing delicious beef.

"We don't really know yet about the benefits," Ritchie said. "Claims have been made.

We have no research data to support the claims. On the other hand, we can't refute them. We haven't got anything to the contrary. I take a neutral position. We haven't got any data."

But Ritchie said he does have some expectations.

"I have a notion they will thrive better on sparse vegetation because of the buffalo in them. Buffalo survived under harsh range conditions," he said.

Ritchie said his guess is that grass-fed beefalo will taste just like grass-fed beef. "I don't know how consumers will respond to large amounts," he added.

Probably the best tasting will be the young beefalo, he added.

"They will be acceptable, they'll be tender. They will lack some juiciness and there may be a little less flavor than we're used to with grain-fed beef."

"I think the main advantage they'll have is, if they can subsist on less grain and more roughage, they will be less expensive to raise than regular cattle. I don't think they'll grow any faster," Ritchie said.

Americans will probably never switch to eating beef from cattle fed solely on grass though, he added.

"I expect consumers in this country are still going to demand a small amount of grain," he said. But he said farmers will not feed cattle as much grain as they used to. "We can't afford it," he said.

"How the beefalo are going to fit into things I don't know," he added. "It's too early to tell. But there's a lot of interest in these beefalo."

By John Roche

Nothing is more boring than the commentator who, week in, week out, harps away on the same issue: the "journalistic version of 'Johnnie One-Note.'" I have tried to avoid this peril, but given current circumstances it seems compelling to take one more trip to the well. From the moment the notion was first broached, I have been denouncing from the housetops the various scenarios that have the United States, threatened by "strangulation," forcefully seizing some oil-rich Arab territory. First of all, we are not threatened by "strangulation," but by constipation — we have enormous potential energy assets awaiting development. Second, whatever the general level of world morality may be, I think such an act would be evil and unworthy of our ideals. And, third, leaving both these points aside, I don't think we have the military capability to do anything less than blow the oil states to smithereens.

For sounding these sour notes, I have been labelled a "Cassandra" (obviously by critics who are not up on Greek literature: Cassandra was right). Libya and the Gulf shekdoms, we are told, have no jungles, thus eliminating the problems of Vietnam. Well, Algeria didn't have any jungles either, and yet the French were stalemated in the field. Libya is underpopulated with a population less than Brooklyn. Fine, but in World War II it filled up plenty fast. (If Secretary Kissinger wanted to play "realpolitik," he might give Libya to Sadat in return for an accommodation with Israel — then we could take balcony seats and watch the action!) But the crucial military point is that, if we were idiotic enough to get mixed up in such a steal, we have no logistical base.

Does anyone really think that our NATO allies would play? For reasons that have little relationship to the merits of the operation, the answer is clearly "No." Where then could we base our aircraft, mount our seahunt? Norfolk, Virginia? With NATO airbases unavailable (surely, we couldn't count even on the Portuguese this time), the carriers would transport whatever air support could be provided. The burden, in short, would be on the Navy.

How would the Navy fare? Well, let's turn to an authoritative source, Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, retired Chief of Naval Operations, who recently addressed a Washington luncheon sponsored by the Coalition for a Democratic Majority. Zumwalt's specific topic was American Power and the Yom Kippur War, but his somber observations are thoroughly relevant to the issue under analysis. Here are the Admiral's words: "Only the massive airlift by the United States, almost too late, turned the war around, and permitted the Israelis, with their superior strategy and leadership, to encircle the Egyptian Third Army."

"What about the Sixth Fleet? Again, the best that we could muster in the eastern Mediterranean," Zumwalt said, "was 65 ships, as opposed to 98 Soviet ships — a 50 percent disadvantage. Two or three of ours were aircraft carriers. But we had not a single allied airfield, and not a single allied or U.S. ground-based aircraft available to help us. . . . We were facing Soviet aircraft that could come at us from Egypt, from Syria, from the Crimea (and) the Warsaw Pact nations."

The diplomatic consequences of this lack of military parity, to say nothing of superiority, were that the United States had to rescue the Egyptian Third Army from the Israeli trap. Let Zumwalt resume the narrative: "The Soviets delivered a rather gloomy diplomatic note to us, which said, in essence, 'You call off the Israelis, or you will have to join us in going in to save the Egyptian Army. If you don't we'll go in and do it ourselves.' Quite apart from any political considerations," The Admiral concluded "let me give you my personal assurance that we had no rational military alternative but to tell the Israelis to stop." To put it in a nutshell, in a few short years the United States has moved from military superiority to inferiority. Of course, we are discussing conventional capabilities because they are the name of the game. (To bounce some nukes into an oil field is hardly going to increase production or ease "strangulation.")

Son Of Famous Movie Father Production Chief

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The executive earthquake shaking the film industry has landed a famous actor's son in the production bosses chair at 20th Century Fox. His name is Alan Ladd, Jr.

Nearly every major studio has undergone top echelon changes during the past year, and 20th-Fox joined the list a month ago with the sudden departure of Gordon Stulberg, president.

In the realignment that followed, two other production executives have left the studio, and Board Chairman Dennis C. Stanfill appointed Ladd vice president for worldwide production.

With his shy, informal manner, Ladd, 37, seems miscast in the post once held by the legendary Darryl F. Zanuck. But Ladd is part of a new breed of production chief — the quiet man of action who gets movies made without getting his name in the newspapers.

"It has been numbing, taking over so quickly with the others gone," Ladd remarked, gazing at a desk laden with scripts and memos.

It was a mess, he said remorsefully — "I like a clean desk."

Although he occupies the same position as the elder Zanuck, it is a whole new ball game for Ladd.

"It was a lot simpler for Darryl to make pictures, because everyone was under contract," said the young executive.

"He could assign Lamar Trotti to write a script, Henry King to direct it, Tyrone Power to star. The studio needed all those people under contract because it was making 52 pictures a year."

"Now it's a different kind of situation. We release about 15 pictures a year. The studios are all vying for individual situations, all scrambling for the same stars."

"You spend a lot of time trying to acquire things."

It was Ladd's knack of acquiring things that impressed Stanfill. Ladd helped develop such films as "Young Frankenstein," "Dirty Mary, Crazy Larry" and "Harry and Tonto," which relieved Fox's long drought of hits.

He also oversaw the forthcoming "W.W. and the Dixie Dance Kings" with Burt Reynolds and "At Long Last Love," the Cole Porter musical.

Ladd was the son of his father's early marriage, and the boy lived with his mother, visiting the senior Ladd and wife, Sue Carol, on weekends and during the summer. He fondly remembers Paramount, where his father starred from "This Gun for Hire" (1942) to "Batany Bay" (1953).

"I was a total movie nut," young Ladd confessed. "I used to take the streetcar to Hollywood Boulevard and go from one theater to another, seeing pictures all day and into the night."

Despite his passion for films, he never aspired to be an actor. His only performing was stunt work, which he did to earn money.

He studied business at the University of Southern California, quitting nine units before graduation. He married, got called up in the Air Force Reserve during the Berlin crisis and served a year before returning to Hollywood.

Unable to find work in the studios, Ladd offered his services to Freddie Fields, who ran a small agency with big clients — Judy Garland, Paul Newman, Henry Fonda and Phil Silvers, among others.

Fields hired him to run errands at $65 a week — "Better than the $118 a month I had been getting in the Air Force."

After the first week he was raised to $100 and soon became a full-fledged agent.

Ladd became a partner of Elliott Kastner and Jerry Gershwin in the making of such overseas films as "The Walking Stick," "The Severed Head," "X, Y and Zee" (Elizabeth Taylor) and "The Night

SJ Township Permits

Total $4,500

Remodeling and new sign projects were reported by Harold Morrison, St. Joseph township building inspector, last week with permits totaling $4,500.

Troop Training Inquiry Sought

F. Hamill, told The AP he received 10 applications for every available job after he placed two modest advertisements in newspapers serving two U.S. military bases.

"I had skills I couldn't use in civilian life," said James D. Holland, 48, of Los Angeles, a former U.S. Army colonel who lost an eye in a mortar attack in Vietnam and wears a black eyepatch. He is in charge of scheduling for the Vinnell project.

Retired Army Col. William G. Walby, 49, training director for the Vinnell project, said he had been flooded with telephone calls, most of them from job hunters.

Walby, of Pebble Beach, Calif., said the Vinnell recruits would pull out of Saudi Arabia in the event of any U.S. military action involving the oil fields. "I couldn't even imagine such an action, but it seems to me that would end any involvement of ours in the program," he said.

The contract was awarded last month. The Vinnell force is to assemble in Saudi Arabia in July to start the training sessions.

An incentive to former military men to join Vinnell is the pay: from $1,500 to $1,800 a month on an 18-month contract, with a $2,400 bonus at the end. In addition, most of them have healthy military pensions ranging from $10,000 to $14,000 a year.

The Vinnell mission is to train three newly mechanized infantry battalions of 1,000 men each and a 105-mm howitzer artillery battalion of similar size.

Private American concerns have often handled logistics and maintenance chores for the armed forces of the United States and friendly foreign governments. Already in Saudi Arabia there are other private U.S. firms, including Lockheed Aircraft, Raytheon and AVCO.

But showing foreign troops how to fire their weapons and fight wars has been the mission of U.S. advisory teams in the past, most recently in Southeast Asia.

The former soldiers hired so far believe they can do a better job in the Persian Gulf than the U.S. military did in Southeast Asia.

Shah Is Buying U.S. Destroyers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The oil-rich Shah of Iran, the biggest buyer of U.S. arms, will get six new American destroyers with more modern anti-aircraft equipment than similar vessels supplied to the U.S. Navy, according to Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis.

Aspin said the Navy, in its quarterly report to Congress, deleted the number of ships but confirmed that the Iranian vessels will have "additional anti-aircraft warfare capability" above that of the U.S. vessels.

The agreement to sell Iran six of the ships was concluded last Aug. 27. Iran also has ordered 80 of the U.S. Navy's new F14 fighter planes and reportedly is interested in buying some super-sized C5 military transport planes.

U.S. Navy spokesmen said the Iranian vessels require greater air defense capabilities and thus will include new American-built anti-aircraft missiles which the U.S. ships don't have.

Thirty of the ships involved are being built for the American fleet by Litton Industries. The ships have been controversial because their cost has jumped from an estimated $85 million to the current $110 million each.

Iran has bought more than $7 billion in U.S. arms, and the Shah also has bought from Britain and other countries.

U.S. sales of weapons to Iran are motivated largely by a desire to maintain close and friendly relations with one of the world's biggest oil-producing countries.

The dollar income also is important to U.S. firms at a time of general economic decline and shrinking Pentagon weapons buying.

Gamblers Can Take The Cure

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A hospital here specializes in "drying out" compulsive gamblers.

"We're doing better with gamblers than with alcoholics," said Dr. Alida Glen, psychologist in charge of the program at the Veterans Administration hospital in suburban Brecksville. "As far as I know, we're the only hospital in the country that does this."

First step in the treatment is helping a patient get over the depression that comes after betting his life's savings and losing.

"We give them a lot of supportive talking," she said, adding medication might be given to get the patient over that first hurdle.

The second step is external pressure, such as trying to get a man's wife to help. The third step is encouraging the patient to attend "Gamblers Anonymous" meetings, the doctor said.

About 45 patients have been treated in the two years the program has operated here, with patients staying an average of about six months.

She said about 10 patients have been re-admitted. Those who stay cured usually continue to attend Gamblers Anonymous sessions, she said.

The doctor disagrees with theories that gamblers subconsciously want to punish themselves or are seeking a substitute for sex.

"Usually, they've been gambling since they were boys," she said. "They like the notoriety of being the best gambler or even the biggest losing gambler in their peer group."

"And nothing makes them feel better than a bet. That's when they get their real high. The minutes between the time the bet is made and the result is known is the best time for any gambler," she said. "It's that euphoria they can't let go."

Milliken's Tax Called Is 'Tightwire Act'

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislators who don't like it regard Gov. William Milliken's business tax program as a budget-balancing tightwire act that may give industry too many tax breaks.

The program would replace eight taxes with one income tax of about two per cent on payrolls and profits. It clearly favors manufacturers who want to expand and guarantees the state revenue picture some stability during recessions. It is designed to bring the state $800 million a year starting next January, the same amount the eight taxes would provide.

House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, resents the fact that Milliken would use the new tax to balance his budget for 1975-76.

"I don't know whether it's politics or what," said Crim. "The governor has thrown all the problems to the legislature. He is saying, 'Here is a solution, if you don't like it we're in trouble.'"

The program would bring $180 million in extra revenue into the state Treasury in the spring of 1976 — the final days of the budget being considered.

Ordinarily, that revenue would not be paid until the next fiscal year and most of it would be paid to local units of government, not to the state. Milliken proposes to balance his 1975-76 budget with the windfall.

Milliken's budget expert, Gerald Miller, was asked what he would do if the legislature rejected the package.

"Why don't you ask the legislature," he replied.

Ironically, the current tax laws on business offer a wide range of tax incentives that would be wiped off the books if the program is adopted. They include a gradually increasing state-paid tax credit on business inventory giving business $88 million this fiscal year. There also is a gradually declining corporate franchise fee which saves business $8 million for 12 months ending in June.

Milliken offers some alternative tax incentives under his new program which big business should find just as nice.

Here is how they would work: If some firm like General Motors builds a new $10-million plant in Michigan, the entire cost of the facility would be subtracted from the corporation's tax base during the first year of the project.

The new tax rate of about two per cent would be levied on what remains.

One of the eight business taxes that would be repealed is the corporate income tax. The current rate is 7.8 per cent of profits. The proposal would tax profits at a two per cent rate.

Another scrapped tax would be the local property tax on business inventory, which averages about 2.5 per cent across the state. Different local units of government charge different rates. Chrysler Corp. and other automakers, stuck with huge stocks of unsold cars during hard economic times, would not be stuck with fat tax bills on inventory.

Here are some of the program's disadvantages to business:

The new tax base would be the sum of profits, labor costs including payroll, rent and interest.

Currently, a company that operates in the red pays no corporate income tax on profits because there are none.

Under the proposal, the company running at a loss would still pay the state tax levied on labor costs, rent and interest.

Small and unincorporated businesses would pay higher tax bills than they do now because they now are exempt from paying the corporate franchise fee and corporate income tax. They don't pay much inventory tax either.

The tax incentive for capital expansion in the proposal will be of little use to doctors and lawyers.

The first $15,000 of income would be exempt from the new tax, however.

Miller's view of the proposal is that big business will pay less and some smaller businesses more. He said revenue from the new "business income tax," as it is being called, would replace revenue from the current eight taxes on business. But he said it is difficult to be exact.

Property taxes on inventory are collected locally and state figures on their total are inexact. One of the eight taxes that would be repealed is the business portion of personal income tax paid by small unincorporated firms. It is difficult to determine how much this amounts to, although estimates are $4 million a year.

"I just don't believe they will be able to gauge revenues from this new tax," complained Crim. "I predict they won't collect $800 million but something less. Then they will come back and ask us to raise taxes."

Last-Ditch Battle Due On Fast Time

By MARY SCHEIER
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The buisierous battle of Daylight Saving Time is headed for a last-ditch rematch Tuesday in the Michigan House of Representatives.

The Senate, meanwhile, is slated to consider a flurry of bills approved in committee last week, including one to ease voter registration and several to collect money owed the state.

The House last week failed by one vote to pass a bill which would put Michigan on DST Feb. 23 when the rest of the country switches. Current state law would not set Michigan's clocks ahead one hour until April 17.

Bill supporters promised to ask that the vote be reconsidered Tuesday. They say that if Michigan is out of step with the rest of the country, then industry, railroads, truckers and others who have to coordinate interstate schedules will have a tough time.

Opponents warn that young children going to school in the dark will be endangered.

The measure already has passed in the Senate with immediate effect.

House Majority Floor Leader Joseph Forbes, D-Oak Park, predicts the bill will be passed the second time around.

But whether the House will vote to have the bill take effect in time to apply this month upon signature by the governor is another question.

And yet another question is whether Gov. William Milliken will sign it. He says he hasn't decided yet.

A 56-vote majority is needed to pass a bill in the 110-member House. But passing the bill is only half the battle. Unless it's given immediate effect, it won't become effective until next year, and the whole point will have been missed. There must be 74 votes to give a bill immediate effect in the House.

Heading into the weekend, Forbes said "as it stands now we're right around 84-85 votes for immediate effect...it's a very difficult project.

"I would certainly hope the membership that does oppose the bill really takes a very long look at the effect defeating the bill would have for those corporations which, whether we like it or not, affect the economy of this state."

Forbes noted that most of the 20 legislators who debated the bill last week opposed it, and he said supporters will be heard from Tuesday.

"The leadership was not that much involved because of the emotionalism of the issue. But I think I'm going to get into the flurry. I think there were a lot of misstatements made about the dangers of going on DST Feb. 23...I hated to see that type of emotionalism creep in."

Acupuncture Restores Politician's Lost Voice

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN
Associated Press Writer
CLAWSON, Mich. (AP) — A

AL G. TERWILLIGER

whimsical conservative whose rhetoric cost him his voice on the campaign trail last fall finally has it back after a 20-minute acupuncture treatment.

Al G. Terwilliger lost his voice two months before last November's election while campaigning as Conservative party candidate for lieutenant governor in Michigan.

The 35-year-old wealthy businessman said Sunday he got most of his vocal facilities back 10 days ago after his first pin treatment.

"It freaked me out because I went to the Mayo Clinic and to some of the great specialists in Austria," said Terwilliger. "They said, 'We think we can help you out, but we'll have to send you to a Chinese acupuncturist.'"

Terwilliger was without speech for more than four months before going to acupuncturist Dr. Ching Ing Lu of Windsor, Ont.

He blames his affliction on the heavy speaking schedule on his campaign.

"I was campaigning very heavily, talking just three or four times a day. About a month before the election I just ran out of gas."

Speaking at a normal volume but hoarsely, Terwilliger said the Mayo Clinic specialists had told him his voice was sure to return someday, but could suggest no treatment for the condition.

"I got 80 per cent of my voice back after the first (acupuncture) treatment," Terwilliger says. "When they finished the nurse asked me something and without thinking, I answered her. I couldn't believe it."

He said he has four more acupuncture sessions to go. In the treatments, which take 20 minutes each, 15 to 18 needles are stuck in his face and chest.

Terwilliger owns a company that makes harness-racing equipment and another firm that manufactures safety vests for snow sports.

Despite his voice-shattering campaign experience, and the fact that he received very few votes, Terwilliger says he's not soured on politics. Quite the reverse.

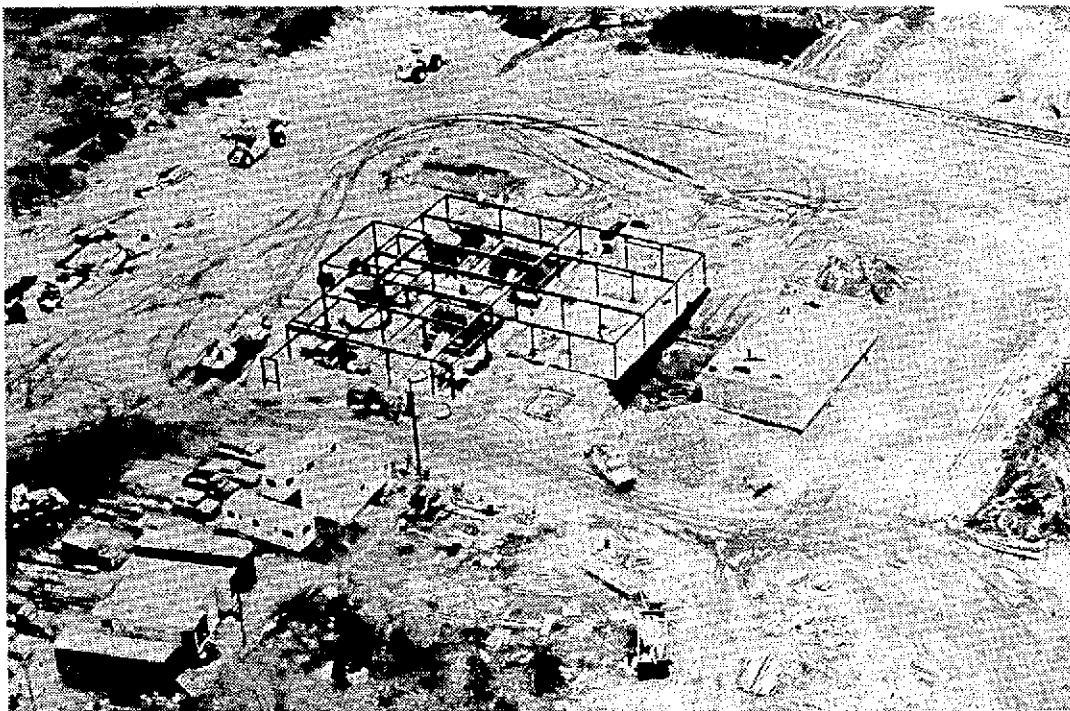

"I learned one thing. If I'd had my voice I think I could have set the world on fire," he said. "People are in such need of honest leadership."

"I didn't stop campaigning (after losing his voice). I was out shaking hands even though I couldn't talk for two months."

Terwilliger even believes there might be some salvation for the nation in voicelessness.

"I think if more politicians had laryngitis we'd have lower taxes and less problems," he said.

DETROIT (AP) — The Stroh Brewery Co. will co-sponsor the 17th annual riverfront Fourth of July fireworks this year, sharing the $50,000 costs with traditional sponsor J.L. Hudson Co.

ADDITIONAL FINANCING PROPOSED: Lake township board has scheduled public meeting tonight on its proposal to sell additional $5 million in bonds to finance completion and addition to water distribution system. If approved by board, $1,255,000 would be used to pay for completion of system, including above plant, while remaining $3,745,000 would pay for construction of water distribution lines to remainder of township not included in original $3.5 million financing two years ago, according to township officials. Property tax levy of 2½ mills would be required if $5 million bond proposal is approved. Meeting will begin at 8 in township hall. (Adolph Hann aerial photo)

Watervliet's Bart Rose Praised For Assistance

WATERVLIET — A Detroit couple whose car slid off I-94 into a ditch Jan. 25, has praised Watervliet Police Chief Bartley C. Rose for his assistance.

Arnold Michlin, of Michlin chemical corporation of Detroit, wrote that Rose went "above and beyond the call of duty" in assisting him and his wife after their car slid off the icy interstate.

The Michlin letter of Jan. 28 to the Watervliet police department said: "Last Saturday night my car slid off the road on I-94 near Watervliet and your officer Bart Rose serviced our case and did his required job of arranging for the car to be towed out, etc.

"My letter is to call to your attention the wonderful care and consideration - above and beyond the call of duty - given to my wife and myself after a frightening and uncomfortable experience.

"He radioed ahead for a motel room for us and was most courteous and solicitous in getting us, our luggage, etc., to a restaurant and the motel.

"His consideration certainly made us have a pleasant and tender feeling toward your lovely town.

"Please convey to him our warmest regards and thanks."

Miller Setting New Record Pace

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Now, perhaps more than anyone ever has before, Johnny Miller has thrown down the challenge to Jack Nicklaus.

"Right now I might be No. 1," the quiet, soft-spoken but completely unabashed young man said after scoring his third victory in four starts this season.

This one came by a comfortable three strokes in the $160,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic, and put Miller ahead of last season's pace when he scored eight victories, acquired Player of the Year honors and collected a record $353,021 in prize winnings.

Nicklaus, the famed and feared Golden Bear who has dominated pro golf for the past decade, did not compete in this unique, five-day 90-hole grind that is spread over four desert courses.

"Jack has been No. 1 so long, people are wanting someone to challenge him," Miller said after posting a last round, four-under-par 68, for a 339 total, a distant 21-under-par.

"I think just because they want to see somebody else up there, they're beginning to say I'm No. 1," Miller said. "Right now I might be."

"But Jack has the ability to be better," said Miller who has been, quite possibly, the outstanding player in the game since his record triumph in the 1973 U.S. Open.

"He has the potential," Miller said. "He's stronger than I am and more experienced. But he's not playing up to his potential, and I am."

"Maybe I'm better right now, but he could be."

Nicklaus has played only twice this year. He tied Miller for sixth in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, the only time Miller has played and failed to win this year. Nicklaus was a distant 14th in the Hawaiian Open. Miller didn't play there. And Jack isn't playing in this week's San Diego Open.

He's sticking to his usual schedule, all aimed toward putting his game at a peak at the Masters in Augusta, Ga., the first week in April. That schedule calls for no more than two tournaments in a row and probably only three or four more appearances before the Masters.

Miller now has won 11 American tournaments in the last 14 months.

The $32,000 he collected from this tournament pushed his winnings for the year to $108,343. That compares with $100,943 at this stage a year ago — when he set a record — and he's planning on playing a little more this year.

"I played good enough to win most tournaments," said Jerry Heard, second to Miller in Phoenix and third in this one.

"The way he's playing, he's making the rest of us look like monkeys," Heard said.

Chunky, red-haired Bob Murphy came on to take second with a 68 and a 342 total, 18-under-par and three back. Heard was at 343 after a last-round 69.

Tigers' Parents Served Victory

BY JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

Ice cream and cake were on the menu for the parents of Benton Harbor's basketball players, but the Tigers served them a far better treat.

A dramatic 83-78 comeback victory over Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills provided the perfect touch for Saturday's Parents Night celebration at the Colfax gym and earned the respect of relatives, fans... and coach Earl McKee.

"We've been blowing the big games, but tonight we finally won one that really counted," McKee beamed after watching his team come from 16 points behind in the second half to end Ottawa Hills' eight-game winning streak.

"I've been telling the guys that if they want to win these games they just have to stay in there and play."

The Tigers followed those instructions to the letter as they beset Ottawa Hills with a swarming full-court zone press and outscored the Indians 49-28 in the final 14½ minutes to turn an apparent defeat into an impressive triumph.

Senior co-captains Mike Howard and Edward Albert again were the ringleaders in the victory as they accounted for 30 of Benton Harbor's points in the winning surge with the help of some excellent free throw shooting that proved to be the difference in the game.

Howard and Albert each made 7 of 9 free throws in the second half while scoring 17 and 13 points respectively. Howard finished the game with 23 points and a 9-of-11 performance at the foul line while Albert hit 11 of 14 free throws while scoring 21 points.

Center Alfred Sanders, who has labored effectively but obscurely most of the season, came up with the best game of his brief career, hauling down 17 rebounds and scoring 15 points by hitting 5 of 9 shots and 5 of 5 free throws.

Spencer Bendon led Ottawa Hills with 22 points but was markedly less effective in the second half when the Tigers speeded up the tempo of the game with their pressing defense.

"The press really turned it around," McKee noted. "It made us more aggressive. They had some trouble with it, too, but the big thing was that it made us more aggressive."

"Everytime we run, we're in business."

The Tigers appeared almost bankrupt when Ernie Rimmer pumped in the first three baskets of the second half to give Ottawa a 50-34 lead, but by the end of the third quarter they had cut the gap to 59-57 on a jump shot by Howard with two seconds left.

Ray Thompson tied the game at 61-61 and 63-63 with three baskets early in the fourth quarter and Sanders finally put the Tigers ahead 67-65 on a three-point play after rebounding his own missed shot.

Howard scored the Tigers' next 10 points and Sanders added a pair of free throws, but they still led only 79-78. Thompson then stole the ball and went in for a lay up. The shot missed, but Albert flipped it back in, drew a foul in the process and sank the free throw with 1:27 left.

Benton Harbor held Ottawa to one shot and one free throw attempt in the remainder of the game while stalling the ball until Albert added the final point at the foul line with eight seconds left.

Thirteen rebounds from Howard and nine assists by Albert were other notable contributions to the victory, which saw Benton Harbor rule the boards by a 58-34 margin and hit 29 of 37 (78%) free throws.

Ottawa Hills got three more baskets while outshooting Benton Harbor 491 to 375 from the field, but converted only 18 of 29 foul shots for a .620 average.

Rimmer — the Grand Rapids City League scoring leader — finished the game with 18 points and Tyrone Streeter had 16, but both fouled out in the fourth quarter.

The victory was the third in a row for Benton Harbor, which has a 13-3 record going into Tuesday's night's home game against Kalamazoo Central.

Ottawa, which leads the Grand Rapids City League race, is 11-4 for the season with two of the losses to Benton Harbor.

Paul Wilhite's Tiger Cubs also staged a furious rally in the preliminary game only to fall two points short as Ottawa won 62-60.

Donald Mathis led Benton Harbor with 21 points and Doyle Branscomb scored 11.

Bill Russell Shuns Hall Of Fame Rites

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell, All-American, pro basketball superstar, the first black coach in major league sports and an apparent fun-loving guy on television commercials, continues as a maverick when it comes to personal honors.

In his first year of eligibility, Russell was named during the weekend to the National Basketball Hall of Fame, a shrine near the founding of basketball in Springfield, Mass.

When asked his feelings about the honor, Russell, now general manager and coach of the Seattle SuperSonics in the National Basketball Association, said Saturday night he would refuse induction.

"For my own personal reasons, which I don't want to discuss, I don't want to be a part of it," Russell said.

The reaction of the 6-foot-9 former Boston Celtics star, who revolutionized pro basketball with his defensive wizardry, caught few observers in his old pro hometown by surprise.

Russell quit as player-coach of the Celtics in 1969 after leading the team to its 11th NBA title in his 13 years with the club. Later, when he was doing commentary on national telecasts, the Celtics decided to retire his No. 6 during one of his visits to Boston, a Sunday afternoon game.

Russell refused to take part in a public ceremony which included raising a flag with his old number to the rafters of Boston Garden. The retired numbers of such former Boston greats as Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman, Tommy Heinsohn, Frank Ramsey and many others dangle.

However Russell wanted nothing to do with a public show. He finally agreed to attend the flag-raising — before the Garden doors were opened for the game. Only a handful of people were on hand. The general public, the paying fans, came in later to see No. 6 hanging from the rafters.

Now Russell is planning to give a cold shoulder to the Hall of Fame, which currently has only 94 individual members and four teams.

"You can't refuse induction, but as far as going through with initiation, that is a different thing," Russell said.

Voted into the Hall of Fame with Russell were three old timers, Joseph Brennan, a pro star from 1919-36 and St. Francis of Brooklyn coach from 1941-48; the late Emil S. Liston of Baker (Kan.) University, coach and founder of the National Association of Intercollegiate basketball, and Indiana legend Robert "Fuzzy" Vandiver.

All four are scheduled for induction into the Hall of Fame at a ceremony April 28. And, despite Russell's statements, Hall executive director Lee Williams expects him to be there.

"All I know is what I've heard," Williams said. "I talked to him in January and then I talked to him twice during the NBA All-Star Game in Phoenix. I asked if we could expect him and he said he'd be here. I sent him a confirming letter, but I have not had man-to-man contact with him since."

Spencer Bendon led Ottawa Hills with 22 points but was markedly less effective in the second half when the Tigers speeded up the tempo of the game with their pressing defense.

The press really turned it around," McKee noted. "It made us more aggressive. They had some trouble with it, too, but the big thing was that it made us more aggressive."

"Everytime we run, we're in business."

The Tigers appeared almost bankrupt when Ernie Rimmer pumped in the first three baskets of the second half to give Ottawa a 50-34 lead, but by the end of the third quarter they had cut the gap to 59-57 on a jump shot by Howard with two seconds left.

Ray Thompson tied the game at 61-61 and 63-63 with three baskets early in the fourth quarter and Sanders finally put the Tigers ahead 67-65 on a three-point play after rebounding his own missed shot.

Howard scored the Tigers' next 10 points and Sanders added a pair of free throws, but they still led only 79-78. Thompson then stole the ball and went in for a lay up. The shot missed, but Albert flipped it back in, drew a foul in the process and sank the free throw with 1:27 left.

Benton Harbor held Ottawa to one shot and one free throw attempt in the remainder of the game while stalling the ball until Albert added the final point at the foul line with eight seconds left.

Thirteen rebounds from Howard and nine assists by Albert were other notable contributions to the victory, which saw Benton Harbor rule the boards by a 58-34 margin and hit 29 of 37 (78%) free throws.

Ottawa Hills got three more baskets while outshooting Benton Harbor 491 to 375 from the field, but converted only 18 of 29 foul shots for a .620 average.

Rimmer — the Grand Rapids City League scoring leader — finished the game with 18 points and Tyrone Streeter had 16, but both fouled out in the fourth quarter.

The victory was the third in a row for Benton Harbor, which has a 13-3 record going into Tuesday's night's home game against Kalamazoo Central.

Ottawa, which leads the Grand Rapids City League race, is 11-4 for the season with two of the losses to Benton Harbor.

Paul Wilhite's Tiger Cubs also staged a furious rally in the preliminary game only to fall two points short as Ottawa won 62-60.

Donald Mathis led Benton Harbor with 21 points and Doyle Branscomb scored 11.

Center Alfred Sanders, who has labored effectively but obscurely most of the season, came up with the best game of his brief career, hauling down 17 rebounds and scoring 15 points by hitting 5 of 9 shots and 5 of 5 free throws.

Galien's Schau Comes Off Bench To 'Finish' Covert

Kooy's 26 Points, 18 Caroms Top Gaels

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

GALIEN — Regular Galien guard Craig Schau didn't start Saturday night's game with Covert...but he sure did "finish" it!

Schau, who had started all 16 previous Galien games this season, came up with a clutch whirlwind finish as the Gaels put on a heated late surge to edge out Covert 60-58 in a thrilling nonleague game.

Schau, who had only four points for the night, sank the winning basket on a driving layup with 55 seconds left and then produced a key steal with 15 seconds remaining to kill Covert chances for the tying bucket.

Schau's heroics wrote a pleasing ending to a hectic Galien comeback. The Gaels, who tallied the last six points of the game, had trailed by seven points with five minutes to go.

"That's the biggest two points he's (Schaу) scored in a long time," praised Gael coach Mike Heckathorn. "In our timeout we just decided to work for the good shot and didn't work out one set shot. Schau just saw the opening and drove. And that steal iced it for us."

Galien forward Don Kooy made possible Schau's last-minute charge with a titanic overall performance. The broad-shouldered junior swished a career-high 26 points and hauled away 18 rebounds. He was the lone Gael to reach double figures and the only player to tip the nets with any consistency.

Kooy gunned 12 of 19 shots outcourt, including five of five the second half, for 83 per cent while the rest of the Gaels were just 15 of 64 for 23 per cent.

"He (Kooy) went to the boards inside tonight and that's what we need from him for us to be effective as a team," added

Heckathorn. "He has to go to the bucket in addition to his shooting from the side."

"That Kooy is a tough ball player," noted Covert coach Rod DeYoung. "We didn't do as good a job on him as we should have. But this was one of his better games."

DeYoung was proud of his team's effort, especially considering the Bulldogs were playing without scoring leader Fred Moody (21.7 average), who has been suspended for the rest of the season for violating training rules.

"I'm really not that disappointed with the loss. We missed some pressure shots at the end and some big free throws. But I think this was one of our better games. I think we showed tonight we'll have to be a team to be considered in the tournaments."

districts later this month at Bridgman.

Rodney Barnes led the Covert scoring with a career-high 17 points while Harold Baber added 14, 12 in the last half when he finally found his shooting eye, and Phil Robinson 11.

Galien led 18-13 after the first half and 32-31 at intermission but Covert rattled off the last six points of third quarter to take a 47-44 edge into the finale.

Then the Gaels, down by seven, put on a press and cut the gap. Tim Snyder, who turned in solid work off the bench, popped in a bucket at 2:16 to narrow the margin to 58-56 and then he hit again with 1:50 left to knot the count. Covert went scoreless the final three minutes of the game.

Poor foul shooting really cost Covert the win. The Dogs could only manage eight of 18 for 44 per cent, including one of five in the last quarter. Galien was six of 10.

Both teams finished with mediocre shooting stats. Galien meshed 27 of 83 for 33 per cent while Covert was 25 of 73 for 34 per cent. Both teams shot 41 per cent the last half after cool first-half efforts.

Mike Kuntz aided Kooy on the boards with 13 rebounds as Galien charts had the Gaels holding a 53-30 advantage. The 18 rebounds by Kooy was the top individual effort by a Gael this year.

"We really needed this win," offered Heckathorn. "The kids on the bus after Friday night's loss just decided to get recharged and be leaders out there. We had to get ready for our last two league games."

"Covert is a fine ball club. They're going to be a factor in that district."

The Gaels, who snapped a two-game loss string with Saturday's win, now takes on Berrien Springs Friday night with the Red Arrow title on the line.

Galien is now 14-3 overall and Covert 10-7.

Galien's jayvees outscored Covert 6-0 in overtime to post a 51-45 victory. Matt Koziet tossed in 18 points, Dave Gerold 11 and Rick Cauffman 10 for the winners. Jeff Lasenby tallied 18 for the Bulldogs.

Chiefs Tip Bucks On Free Throws

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac used some fancy free throw shooting to upset Buchanan here Saturday night and gain a big measure of revenge.

The Chiefs, who lost to the Bucks earlier 82-64, canned 20 of 26 foul shots (77 per cent) to earn a 62-57 nonleague victory.

Dowagiac took 28 less shots than Buchanan, had five less field goals and was outrebounded 48-39. But the Chiefs had a telling 20-5 advantage from the line with the Bucks putting in only five of 11 shots (46 per cent).

The Bucks were also hurt by foul problems. Mike Busby and Mark Jackson both picked up three fouls early and had to go to the bench in the second quarter with Buchanan leading 27-23. Dowagiac came back and went ahead 30-29 at the half.

The Chiefs then outscored the Bucks 17-7 in the third quarter to take a 47-36 lead into the finale. Buchanan closed the gap to three at one point but that was as close as it could get.

"With Busby and Jackson on the bench that created problems for us," noted Buck coach Bill Wilson. "That hurt us on the boards."

"But Dowagiac played pretty well. They beat us on at the lines...that was the difference. We have to play a lot better if we want to stay in the thick of the Blossomland race."

The Chiefs put all five starters in double figures with John Russom sinking 20 points, seven in the third quarter, Lenny Slover 12, six in the fourth period, and Oran Danzy, Bob Waalkes and Dave Macon all 10 points.

Busby netted 18 for the Bucks with eight coming in the opening period. Ken Garrett added 13, nine in the fourth quarter, and Jackson 10.

Buchanan hit 26 of 82 shots for 32 per cent and Dowagiac 21 of 54 shots for 39 per cent. Buchanan had 13 turnovers, the Chiefs 17.

The Bucks, who have lost two in a row, are now 12-5 overall this season. Dowagiac ups its mark to 7-10.

Buchanan captured the jayvee game 78-66 with Greg Frazier hitting 18 and Gerald Busby 14 for the winners.

John Tucker popped in 17 points to lead the Blazers to a 44-18 victory over the Junior Panthers in community branch YMCA Gray elementary league basketball.

Gary Beaver scored 14 points for the Wolverines who turned back the Lakers 26-18. Floyd Pullen had an even dozen for the Lakers.

Billy Bilisko had 22 points for Preston which decided Loken 30-8. Tom Bilisko dumped in 22 points for the Super Sonics who routed the Wildcats 54-2.

North Shore turned back Boynton 48-24 as Ray Davis struck for 20 points for the winners. Morlon Hill took 29-7 as Chuck Hudson bagged a game-high 15 points for Morton.

Skins Winner Of Showdown

Three Rivers Defeated 64-55 In Wolverine

THREE RIVERS — Paw Paw's Redskins took a giant step toward the Wolverine conference basketball championship by winning their showdown with Three Rivers 64-55 here Saturday night.

Sparked by the scoring of Rick Mitchell, Ed Dow and Kevin Davis and the all-around excellence of Rob Nicey, coach Dave Anderson's team rolled up a 55-42 lead in the first three quarters and held off Three Rivers the rest of the way to retain sole possession of first place in the league standings.

The victory gives the Redskins an 11-3 Wolverine record and a game-and-a-half lead over Three Rivers (9-4), the only other team that has a chance of even sharing in the title now.

Mitchell scored 18 points, Dow 16 and Davis 14 for Paw Paw and Dow also hauled down 24 rebounds to give the Redskins a 43-37 advantage on the boards.

Nicey, the playmaker in the Redskins' offense, added 10 points and 10 assists while playing a major role in holding Three Rivers ace Tim Ryan to just six points with a man-to-man defense.

Ryan also got into early foul trouble, sat out much of the second quarter and eventually fouled out midway through the final period.

Guard Fred Krull took individual scoring honors with 19 points and center Tim Frecese scored 12 for Three Rivers, which had won 8 of its previous 10 games.

Paw Paw got eight more baskets while outshooting Three Rivers 420 in 362, but the Redskins hit only 8 of 16 attempts from the foul line, where the Wildcats converted 13 of 18.

The victory gives Paw Paw an overall 14-3 record to take into Friday's key game against South Haven, which beat the Redskins 63-58 earlier this year.

Three Rivers now is 10-6 for the season.

The Paw Paw junior varsity was less successful in the preliminary game, losing 62-46 despite a 24-point performance by Jerry Gastin.

SJ Girls Win

Martha Bronfenbrenner and Martene Leuty each scored six points as St. Joseph Congregational beat Methodist Peace Temple 20-15 in the YMCA high school church league girls basketball game.

Kathy Schramm scored eight points for the losers. In the only other game Benton Harbor Congregational beat St. Joseph Methodist 13-10.

Strunk Stars

Tim Strunk scored 17 points as Methodist Peace Temple topped First Church of God 37-16 Saturday in the YMCA youth church league. Mark Owens netted 10 for the losers.

Other games saw Neil Kirkwood net 13 in First Presbyterian's win over St. Joe Methodist and St. Joe Congregational win on a forfeit over Stevensville Methodist.

Saugatuck Squeezes Lutheran

Coach Elmer Dobberstein's Titans came up with their best defensive showing of the season Saturday night on their home court but still dropped a 49-45 decision to Saugatuck.

"On the floor we executed well, but we just couldn't put the ball in the basket," Dobberstein said. "Obviously, we played pretty good defense, but they played four points better than we did."

The Titans' scoring again was concentrated in the person of Ron Briney, who led both teams with 23 points and scored 16 in the second half when he sparked a rally that saw Lutheran cut Saugatuck's lead to 42-40.

But none of his teammates could add more than five points and Saugatuck held on to win, although by a much narrower margin than its 64-49 victory just eight days earlier.

Rick Klainik scored 12 points and Joe Bekken 11 for Saugatuck, which hiked its record to 8-9 while handing the Titans their 14th loss in 16 games this season.

Michigan Lutheran did win the junior varsity game 66-46 with Bob Guse scoring 16 points, Bret Morris and Mark Briney 12 apiece and Randy Wolf 10.

The Titan jayvees now are 9-7 for the season.

Gophers Threaten Hoosier Win Streak

Undefeated Indiana Seeks 12th Big Ten Victory Tonight

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Indiana's top-ranked college basketball winning streak on the line Monday night when they invade the fair of Minnesota's rugged Gophers.

The Hoosiers take an 11-0 Big Ten record and a 25-game winning streak to Gopherland where an upset is within the realm of possibility.

Minnesota, tied for second with Purdue with 8-3 records, has a 15-4 overall record which is second only to Indiana in Big Ten rankings.

The Gophers dropped a 79-59 decision at Indiana earlier in the season but the final score doesn't tell the entire story.

Minnesota used a tight, aggressive zone against Indiana and trailed by only three points with nine minutes to play. After Indiana opened a nine-point lead, the Gophers were forced out of their zone and that's when the talented Hoosiers blew the game open.

"Minnesota is a big and strong team and I'm sure we can expect the same type of highly physical game we had earlier," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "I was impressed by the poise they showed in that game, exceptional for the youth of the team."

The two teams warmed up for the big battle with victories Saturday. Indiana romped past Iowa 79-55 and Minnesota turned back Ohio State 62-53. Purdue defeated Wisconsin 69-64. Michigan downed Michigan State 96-84 and Northwestern edged Illinois 51-47.

Indiana had a little trouble with Iowa in the first half but eventually pulled away as Scott May poured in 23 points.

Knight said "I thought Iowa played hard and did a very good job in the first half. I don't think we played poorly, it was just a case of Iowa doing very well. We had an opportunity to put the game away when we led 25-15 but Iowa stayed with us."

Iowa Coach Lute Olson said "I didn't think we were taking bad shots. Unfortunately, you don't get points for shooting — only for putting the ball in."

The tall, young Minnesota forward line was responsible for keeping the Gophers ahead of Ohio State as Mark Olerberg, Mark Landsberger and Mike Thompson combined for 49 points.

Olerberg scored 17 points and Landsberger and Thompson had 16 each. Larry Bolden led Ohio State with 15 points.

Ohio State trailed 31-30 at the half and then took a 39-33 lead before Minnesota reeled off 14 straight points.

John Garrett scored 26 points and Purdue held off a late Wisconsin surge to maintain its share of a second place tie with Minnesota. Wisconsin closed within three points with two minutes to play before Garrett clinched it with a pair of free throws. Marcus McCoy led Wisconsin with 23 points.

Terry Furlow, the Big Ten's leading scorer, was held to 12 points by former high-school teammate Wayman Britt as Michigan snapped Michigan State's five-game winning streak.

Furlow was involved in a slugging incident against Illinois' Rick Schmidt and the matter is under investigation by the Big Ten.

MSU Coach Gus Ganakas, asked if the incident had anything to do with Furlow's performance, said "It had to be a factor. Shooters are sensitive people. They have techniques and every little thing influences the players. But I'd like to think it was Michigan's defense that was a difference."

Joe Johnson scored 28 points and C. J. Knepe added 25 to the Michigan total. Lindsay Hairston scored 27 for the Spartans.

Billy McKinney with 17 points and Willie Williams with 16 led Northwestern out of the Big Ten cellar and past Illinois. The Illini were hit with three technical fouls late in the game and Northwestern converted all three shots.

Schmidt drew the first one and Coach Gene Bartow got the second with Otto Tucker drawing the third.

"I was trying to get an explanation out of the ref for the first one," said Bartow. "Then he (Roger Parramore) just ignored me. He also gave me a technical when we played Michigan."

However, Bartow added, "Their players made the difference."

While Indiana is at Minnesota Monday night, three other games are on tap. Purdue will be at Northwestern, Ohio State at Iowa and Illinois at Wisconsin.

IT'S MINE! Covert's Joel Lewis (33) and Galien's Mike Kuntz (42) both wrap their hands around the ball in an effort to come down with a rebound. The Gaels came from behind to post a 60-58 win Saturday night in the nonleague game at the Galien gym. (Carl Hartman photo)

Martin Is Best Ironwood Flyer

IRONWOOD, Mich. (AP) — For Jerry Martin, winning the North American Ski Flying Championship here Sunday was not much more than incidental. The U.S. Ski Team jumper from Minneapolis has something a bit bigger in mind.

"Winning doesn't mean that much to me," Martin said after gaining the victory on his final jump of the day. "I just wanted to get good training in. I really want to get ready for next year and the Winter Olympic Games."

Martin, 24, needed a jump of more than 400 feet to overtake Jim Maki in the overall standings and regain the title he won here in 1973.

Martin soared 443 feet, then watched as Maki fell after landing on the final jump of the meet and lost valuable style points.

"I guess it just wasn't my day," said Maki, a Coleraine, Minn., native. "I just tried too hard."

Martin set a North American distance mark Friday with a ride of 482 feet and finished with 511.5 points after three days of competition in the rugged Copper Peak scenery.

Maki finished second at 499 and Japan's Shunichi Akimoto was third with 488. Martin held the lead after his record-breaking jump Friday, but Maki went out in front Saturday.

"It just basically boils down to getting too tense and jumping too early," Martin said. "I also bet that if it had been 10 or 15 degrees warmer, it would have been different, too."

Temperatures hovered around zero all weekend. Officials said the wind-chill factor made it 28 below at the top of the 24-story steel slide.

Ron Steele, 21, of Leavenworth, Wash., took the title last year but finished fourth this year with 476.5 points.

"I've been having trouble this year," Steele said. "I've been injured a couple times and I'm just starting to ski well again."

For Windsperger, this year's effort was his best ever in high hill competition. Copper Peak is a 120-meter jump.

"I jumped well at Copper Peak last year, too," he said. "But everytime I had a long jump I fell. Let's just say this is my best showing on paper."

The next stop for most of the jumpers will be the Westby, Wis., Snowflake Tournament on Feb. 16. It is a 90-meter hill.

Grand Rapids Pair Hold Doubles Lead

ALLEN PARK, Mich. (AP) — Jerry Selvis and Dick Damstra of Grand Rapids are still on top in the doubles handicap category after the sixth week of the 19-week Men's State Bowling Tournament.

The pair topped 1,377 pins to hold their lead as Harold Cole and Jack Snyder of Mount Pleasant downed 1,346 pins and Gary Wilkie and Keith Julian of Monroe had 1,342.

Polega Prosthetics of Grand Rapids again topped the team handicap roster with 3,286 pins, as Dean of Middleville felled 3,250 pins to take second.

In team actual standings, Miller Jewelers of Battle Creek dropped 2,912 pins to lead that category, Professional Sports Center of Ann Arbor scored 2,847 for second and Washtenaw Lanes and Lounge, also of Ann Arbor, was third with 2,846.

Selvis and Damstra also lead the doubles actual race with 1,254 pins. Gordon Slaughter and Jerry Nutt of Sparta are second with 1,250 and Mel Wolf and Bob Lado of Jackson are third with 1,242.

The singles handicap competition is led by John Ruggiero III of Belleville at 786, Dick Aukerman of Kalamazoo is No. 2 downed 738 pins and Phil Badour of Saline is third at 735.

The singles actual race is topped by Ruggiero, with 712, Bob Ladd of Jackson at 681 and Dennis Muller of Pontiac, 669.

John Tobalske of Marshall finished with 2,078 pins to lead the all events handicap race. Doug Sanks of Mount Pleasant is second at 2,029, followed by Phil Badour, 2,010.

All events actual is headed by Bob Ladd of Jackson, 1,851. David Diomed of Detroit, 1,850, and Jeffrey Peck, Ann Arbor, 1,849.

Dennis Muller of Pontiac rolled 279 to take the high game.

Lanier May Miss Buck Game Tonight

Detroit's Defense Holds Lakers

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons like to keep an opponent under 95 points, and feel if they can do that they've got the offensive power to win.

Los Angeles edged one point over that mark Sunday and came within a whisker of dropping the Pistons. Tonight could be a different story, with center Bob Lanier claiming his ailing left knee will keep him out of tonight's game against Milwaukee.

"I can't play tomorrow," Lanier said. "It was a struggle to play today. I'm positive I can't play, unless some miracle happens. And I doubt that."

Coach Ray Scott was not so positive, but said Lanier will travel with the team and George Trapp will start in his place if the Pistons' big man is sidelined.

Detroit won 97-96 Sunday, but the outcome was in doubt until the final seconds. The Lakers' Brian Winters missed his last shot and then Los Angeles tied up Dave Bing after he grabbed the rebound, and the clock was stopped with two seconds remaining, and Detroit leading by one.

"The play was set up to go to (Gail) Goodrich or (Lucius) Allen," said Lakers' Coach Bill Sharman of his team's unsuccessful final play. "If they didn't come free then it was to go to Winters. The shot was open, but someone jumped in front and threw it off."

Lanier, despite his knee, scored 31 points, including what proved to be the winning bucket with 51 seconds left. Then Goodrich, who ended up with 27 points, hit a jumper that cut the Detroit lead to one point. Rookie Waters followed Goodrich with 18 points.

Lanier missed an easy shot after a scramble under the Detroit basket. The Lakers snagged the rebound with 14 seconds left but Winters' shot went awry. Bing stumbled after getting the ball and controlled the ensuing jump as the last two seconds ticked away.

Detroit trailed by 10 after the first quarter, but Lanier's 20-point second-half performance helped Detroit beat the Lakers for the third straight time.

Bing, recovering from the flu, had 16 points.

DETROIT 97, LOS ANGELES 96. Winters 9-0-18, Smith 2-0-4, Allen 6-2-14, Goodrich 12-3-27, Beatty 1-1-3, Russell 3-0-6, Lantz 3-3-9, Colburn 0-0-0. Totals 42-10-12.

DETROIT 97. Rowe 5-3-12, Adams 5-0-10, Lanier 14-3-31, Bing 6-4-16, Mengell 1-2-4, Ford 2-0-4, Trip 3-5-11, Porter 0-0-0, Ligon 0-0-0, Davis 0-0-0, Money 4-0-8. Totals 40-17-21.

Los Angeles fouled out: None. Total fouls: Los Angeles 19, Detroit 24. A: 7,227.

Roscoe's 4:14.1 Mile Highlight

ALLENDALE — A 4:14.1 mile by distance ace John Roscoe highlighted a four-victory performance by Southwestern Michigan College athletes in the Grand Valley State College Invitational track meet here Saturday.

Other SMC victories in the Division I competition for junior Houseworth of St. Joseph with a 45-6½ shot put, by Bill Bradford with a 6-4 high jump and by Oliver Fowlkes with a 7.4

clocking in the 60-yard low hurdles.

Steve Bunn of Hartford was fourth in the two-mile (9:24.2) and fifth in the mile (4:25.3). Tom Filspermann of St. Joseph was sixth in both events with times of 9:36.7 and 4:27.5 and Dave Baltosser of Brandywine was fourth in both the 1,000-yard run (2:18.1) and the half mile (1:58.1).

Rick Carney of St. Joseph was fourth in the pole vault at 13 feet.

Eastern Clouds Broncos' Title Chances

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Miami has taken the lead in the flip-flopping Mid-American Conference basketball race by knocking off front-runner Bowling Green, but Toledo is making its move, too.

Toledo's Rockets, with two home games scheduled before they travel to Miami, downed Ohio University 82-74 to close to within one game of the lead in the standings.

While Bowling Green dropped into second place, Central Michigan moved into third by virtue of a 63-62 squeaker over Kent State and Western Michigan fell into a fourth-place tie with Toledo after losing to Eastern Michigan 62-60.

In nonconference games, Ball State beat Illinois State 77-65 and Northern Illinois edged Wisconsin-Green Bay 64-61.

At Oxford, freshman Randy Ayers scored 12 of his 14 points to trigger a torrid Miami first half that gave the Redskins a 45-29 intermission edge.

Bowling Green narrowed the gap in the second half, but guard Rod Dieringer's longrange shooting riddled the Bowling Green defense.

Falcons' Coach Pat Haley said the victory could be the key to a conference title for Miami.

"They have too many good shooters, and we couldn't use our size against them," Haley said.

Miami Coach Darrell Hedrick was enthused with his team's triumph.

"I don't think we can play any better than we did in the first half," he gloved.

Miami is now 15-5 overall, 6-3 in MAC play. Bowling Green dropped to 10-8 overall, 6-4 in the conference.

At Athens, Toledo hit 90 per cent of its shots from the foul line for 38 points, almost half its winning tally. Ohio hit only 14 for 19.

"The free throws were the story of the game," said Ohio Coach Dale Bandy. "We were ready for everything they did today, but did not play very well at either end of the court."

Toledo Coach Bob Nichols said the game confirms his team is good at the foul line.

"I knew we weren't that far away from being a fine basketball team. I'll take the free throws today, because sometimes it happens the other way against you."

The victory puts Toledo at 5-4 in MAC play, 10-8 overall. Ohio dropped to 4-5, 9-9 on the season.

At Mount Pleasant, Mich., James McElroy made a jump shot with four seconds remaining to give Central Michigan a come-from-behind victory over Kent State.

The last-gasp triumph gave Central a 4-3 MAC mark and dropped Kent to 2-7 in league play.

In Ypsilanti, Tim White hit a foul shot with 33 seconds left to give Eastern Michigan a four-point edge, and the Hurons held on for the victory over intrastate rival Western Michigan.

EMU is now 3-5 in the conference; WMU dropped to 5-4.

Veenstra Gives Calvin Another MIAA Championship

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball championships are getting to be a habit at Calvin College.

The Knights sewed up their sixth MIAA roundball crown in seven years Saturday with a 73-69 victory over Hope.

Mark Veenstra led Calvin with 26 points as the Knights set a league record with their 24th straight MIAA victory. The team is 9-0 in the league this season and 15-1 overall.

Hope, which led for much of the game, is 8-8 overall and 5-4 in the league.

In other MIAA action, Alma defeated Kalamazoo, 84-73, and Albion downed Olivet 91-70.

Willie Dawkins led Alma with 24 points and 18 rebounds, while Dwayne Garner paced Kalamazoo with 17. Guard Denny Frost scored 19 points for Albion and Kevin Janer hit a game-high 21 for Olivet.

Lake Superior State upset Ferris State, 78-69, in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletics Conference. Gary Fors led the Lakers with 23 points as they pushed their conference record to 4-2 compared with 6-1 for Ferris, the defending champions.

In another GLIAC game, Grand Valley lifted its conference record to 6-1 with an 83-76 victory over Saginaw Valley. Kimm Griffin paced the victors' balanced scoring attack with 15 points. Dale Brown's 21 points topped Saginaw, which dropped to 2-5 in conference play.

Northwood romped to a 100-80 triumph over Detroit Tech. Gary Johnson paced the victory with 33 points and Darold Johnson added 20. Charles Smith led Tech with 20 points.

Tom Adams led Hillsdale with 17 points as his team took a 63-61 victory over Oakland. Louis Bryant hit 20 for Oakland. Hillsdale is now 16-11 for the season, while Oakland is 3-19.

Larry Bunnell's 19 points helped Bimidi State vanquish Michigan Tech, 83-68, in a Northern Intercollegiate Conference game played in Minnesota. Mike Ruecker led Tech with 13. Tech is now 3-7 in the league and 7-13 overall.

Riley Dotson scored 21 points to lead Detroit to a 66-55 non-conference victory over Loyola. Loyola led early in the first half, but Detroit fought back by the intermission. Detroit is now 11-7 for the season.

William Eddie hit the winning bucket with 2:45 to play as Northern Michigan defeated Western Illinois, 63-61. NMU blew an 11-point lead in the first half and trailed 43-37 at the intermission, but stormed back in the second half.

Freshman Ed Bratchette came off the bench to score 13 points and lead Spring Arbor to a 73-67 victory over Mercy. Fred Burnett scored 26 points in the losing effort for Mercy, which is now 14-11. Spring Arbor is 15-10.

Wayne State fell to Eastern Illinois, 87-72. Fred Myers scored 26 points for Eastern and Ty Richardson topped Wayne with 16. WSU is now 5-14 for the season.

Soo Driver Wins International 500

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — Buddy Weber barely had to leave his back yard to compete in the $25,000 International 500 snowmobile race Sunday, and is $7,945 richer for his efforts.

The Sault Ste. Marie resident and his backup team won the 500-mile marathon in nine hours and 46 minutes.

"I feel great. It's been a long day and it was a team effort," Weber said after the race while clutching his silver winner's trophy.

The race was postponed from Saturday because of a snowfall limited visibility.

In the final unofficial standings, Fred Downing of Mackinaw City was second and Stan Ellis of Trout Lake was third. Fourth place went to Jim Wohlfiel of Pontiac and Lee Wade of Fenton was fifth, completing a clean sweep for Michigan drivers.

It was Weber's second 1-500 race. He was one of the drivers on the team that finished 13th in 1969, the first 1-500.

Each driver had from two to four back-up drivers on his team because U.S. Snowmobile Association rules prohibit the drivers from running more than 50 miles at a stretch, track officials said.

The race, in which William Bowen of New Haven was killed last year, started with an accident on the first lap. Francis Meyer of Rudyard, Mich., the No. 3 qualifier, was injured in the first turn.

Meyer suffered leg and back injuries when he was thrown from his machine and hit by another sled. He was reported in fair condition at a local hospital.

Three spectators were injured on the 18th lap when Wesley Pesek's machine, driven by Don Orndahl, slammed into a fence on the back straightaway of the one-mile oval.

William Lanz of Ryan and Lori Finenote of Boyne City were hospitalized with broken legs. Jack Brinkman of Cass City was treated and released.

Only 26 of 50 entries finished the grueling race, which began at 9:30 a.m.

Gene Denman, who won the Thunder Bay 250, completed 212 laps. Last year's winner, Leroy Lindblad of Roseau, Minn., who was the top qualifier, finished 11th — the best performance by any driver from outside the state.

Marquette Tips Bees After Linke's Injury

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. — An ankle injury to sophomore Bob Linke proved costly to Bridgman here Saturday night against Michigan City Marquette.

"We were working the ball into him well and had a six point lead when the injury came early in the third period," said Bee coach Doug Hendricks. With Linke out the remainder of the game, Bridgman lost 73-63.

The Bees took the lead after one period of play, 14-12, and were out front at halftime 37-32.

"Maybe he could've played later on in the game," said Hendricks, "but I figured we have other more important games to win this year." Linke turned an ankle, and should be back in the lineup this week.

Another key factor in this non-league encounter was the Bee's inability to force turnovers off their press. "I thought we did a super job on the press," noted the Bee coach, "but we couldn't get the turnover call."

Three Bees landed in double figures, with Mike Schaller and Ernie Ott each scoring 13 and Jeff Runser getting an even dozen. Bob Lernihan had a game-high 29 for Marquette.

The winners canned 29 of 58 (50 per cent) field goals and paired this with 68 per cent free throw accuracy (15 of 22).

Bridgman made 27 of 65 (41 per cent) of its shots from the floor and 9 of 16 (56 per cent) of its free throws. Rebounding went to the Bees 47-45 with Ott getting 12, Robin Vincek 11. Bridgman made 15 floor errors, Marquette only 9.

Bridgman is 8-9 overall on the season. The little Bees won the jayvee encounter 52-38.

Second-Rated UCLA Edges No. 9 Oregon State Tulsa Upends No. 3 Louisville In MVC

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Third-ranked Louisville has lost twice this year, both times to conference foes, and Coach Denny Crum is not too high on his Cardinals.

The losses have been costly and could put the Cards in an unusual position. They could wind up attending the National Collegiate Athletic Association's year-end bash as an also-ran ... if they get there at all.

While Louisville still tops the Missouri Valley Conference, the Cardinals' MVC record dipped precariously low to 7-2 with an 82-77 loss Saturday to Tulsa. That leaves the Cardinals only a half-game ahead of New Mexico State at 7-3.

"We just got out-hustled," Crum said over and over. "When you are ranked this high, you have to be mentally prepared to play hard every game because you know the other team is coming after you with a lot of fire.

"The great teams accept this challenge. But Tulsa just outthrustled us ... they obviously wanted the game more than we did."

Junior Bridgeman led Louisville with 32 points.

In other games involving the Top Ten, No. 1 Indiana blasted Iowa 79-56, No. 2 UCLA defeated ninth-ranked Oregon 107-103, No. 4 Maryland whipped Duke 104-80, No. 5 Kentucky downed Georgia 75-61, No. 6 North Carolina State clubbed Furman 102-87 and Oregon State upset No. 8 Southern Cal 78-75.

Eleventh-ranked Marquette downed Cincinnati Xavier 78-55, No. 12 North Carolina whipped Georgia Tech 111-81, No. 13 La

Salle beat Temple 74-63, No. 14 Notre Dame nipped South Carolina 66-65 in overtime and No. 20 Penn beat Cornell 83-64. Indiana, the only unbeaten team in the Top 20, got 23 points from Scott May as the Hoosiers pulled away after a close first half. Quinn Buckner scored 15 points and Steve Green had 14 in Indiana's 25th consecutive victory.

Dave Meyers scored a career high of 39 points, 22 in the first half, and UCLA held off a second-half Oregon rally to remain in first place in the Pacific-8 Conference.

Kentucky Coach Joe Hall called his team's victory over Georgia "a strange game. We couldn't settle down. We made a lot of turnovers. But that may have been because we played a lot of people." Kevin Grevey scored 20 points and Mike Flynn had 15 for the Wildcats.

David Thompson got 35 points and nine rebounds in the second game of a doubleheader at Charlotte, N.C., and increased his nation-leading scoring average of 31.9. Mo Rivers added 25 for the Wolfpack, which led 53-40 at the half.

Lonnie Shelton had 27 points to lead Oregon State's upset over Southern Cal. Marquette romped to a 34-8 lead with an 18-point burst in the early going and went on to a decisive victory. Lloyd Walton scored 12 of his 16 points in the first half to pace the surge as Marquette led 42-20 at the half.

Mitch Kupchak had 18 points and Ed Stahl and freshman Phil Ford got 16 apiece for North Carolina in the first game of that doubleheader at Charlotte. North Carolina, the nation's most accurate shooting team, hit 64 per cent from the floor in the first half.

Joe Bryant, a 6-10 junior, and 6-5 senior Bill Taylor scored all but eight of La Salle's first 37 points to pace the Explorers in the first game of a doubleheader at Philadelphia. Bryant wound up with 26 points and 19 rebounds. Taylor had 24 points. In the second game, Ron Haigler scored 33 points for Pennsylvania.

MSU Injury Doesn't Hurt 'M'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Benny White, Michigan State's 5-foot-8 basketball guard, didn't stand a chance of beating 6-6 Michigan forward John Robinson during a jump ball Saturday in the Wolverines' 96-84 Big Ten victory.

White, after scrambling for a loose ball with Robinson eight minutes into the second half, complained he was injured in the melee. Officials Charles Fouty and Red Jaspers allowed White to go to the bench, and MSU Coach Gus Ganakas substituted 6-9 center Cedric Milton amid boos from the Crisler Arena crowd of 12,000.

The booing changed to laughter when the smaller Robinson won the jump. Michigan led at the time 61-46.

Several minutes later White re-entered the game showing no ill effects. He was roundly booed.

North Stars' Goaltender Shines In Weekend Wins

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minnesota goalie Pete LoPresti shut out the defending Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers on Saturday night, beat Atlanta Sunday night and for an encore he might just gain the confidence of his coach.

"I'll have to admit that I didn't have confidence in Pete at the start," said Minnesota North Stars Coach Charlie Burns Sunday night after his rookie goalie stopped 24 shots in beating the Atlanta Flames 3-2.

And he didn't seem to have a lot of faith in LoPresti after the goalie blanked the Philadelphia Flyers 5-0 Saturday night.

"Yes," Burns said, "we had to think whether to play him tonight after his tremendous shutout of the Flyers last night."

But with the weekend victories, Burns is finally seeing the light.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Buffalo and Montreal skated to a 4-1 tie, Kansas City tripped California 2-1, the New York Rangers routed Washington 7-3, Detroit beat Toronto 5-3, Boston downed the New York Islanders 5-1 and Los Angeles edged Chicago 2-1.

Craig Cameron and Blake Dunlop scored second-period goals to back LoPresti's effort and hand Atlanta's new coach, Fred Creighton, his first loss since replacing Bernie Geoffrion, who resigned last week.

Phil Roberto scored three goals and assisted on Marcel Dionne's 30th goal of the season in Detroit's victory over Toronto. Roberto's four points gave him nine goals and 11 assists in 21 games since coming to Detroit in a trade with St. Louis on Dec. 30.

Baseball Arbitration Deadline Is Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Mid-night tonight is the deadline for major league baseball players, dissatisfied with their 1975 contract offers, to file for arbitration hearings.

In this second year of having an impartial arbitrator settle contract disputes, more than 20 players have submitted their contracts for arbitration, according to the latest word from Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Today is the day pitchers Clay Carroll and Don Guilett of the Cincinnati Reds will decide whether they will file for arbitration. Their attorney, Jerry Kapstein, planned to meet again today with the Reds' management after failing to reach agreement Sunday. However, he said, "We're confident we can work it out. Everything was very positive."

Meanwhile, Miller has refused to name the players who have submitted their contracts to arbitration but he did say there are "quite a few from Oakland again." Nine members of the A's, world champions for three straight seasons, went to arbitration last year.

Many more of owner Charles O. Finley's players reportedly are unhappy with their 1975 contracts and apparently are headed for arbitration. They include such standouts as slugger Reggie Jackson, who won a $35,000 raise in arbitration last year, Joe Rudi, Gene Tenace, Bert Campaneris, Ken Holtzman and Vida Blue. Five A's won at the arbitration table last year and four lost.

The hearings are set for New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco starting Wednesday with the arbitrator choosing either the player's or the owner's figures. There is no compromise.

Always Be Sure Of Your Next Meal

By DONALD H. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — If you're fearful that famine or depression are around the corner or that rising food prices will leave you hungry, Ron Whipple has an offer for you.

For $395 he'll sell you 11 small cartons of dehydrated food which he says can be stored for 15 years or more and will provide one person with three balanced meals a day for a year.

Whipple, president of Beehive Specialty Foods, says there are three reasons to buy his food package.

"First, it's a hedge against personal or natural disaster," he says. "If pop gets run over by a truck, the family still eats."

"Second, it's a hedge against inflation. If anything goes wrong, you still eat."

"Third, many of these foods are economical on a day-to-day basis."

Beehive is one of several firms across the nation offering these packages, coupling the appeal of inexpensive food with the assurance that, as one ad said, "If worse comes to worse you'll always know where your next meal is coming from."

The idea of dehydrated food is not new. Schools, prisons and other institutions have been serving dehydrated potatoes and vegetables for years to save the waste and shipping costs of fresh produce.

But suddenly these dehydrated foods have become a $30 million-a-year business. Beehive is one of six major companies, and a score of smaller ones riding a wave of concern over possible food shortages.

Their national advertisements tout their products as a way to beat inflation and avoid starvation if recession turns into depression.

Beehive's food comes in cans which look much like gallon paint cans. A new process has been added — vacuum sealing with gases which prevent spoilage — to insure long shelf life. To prepare it, you scoop out as much of the shriveled foodstuff as you want, add water and heat.

The results look like food and taste to some like real food, while to others they're something like Army K-rations.

Whipple's $395 food plan includes fruits such as apples, prunes and bananas as well as vegetables such as potatoes, carrots, celery and various kinds of beans. It also includes nonfat dry milk, bouillon, peanut butter powder, spaghetti, several kinds of cereal and 53 three-ounce servings of popcorn.

There is no meat, although Whipple does sell dehydrated meat in his retail stores. It's expensive. The food package contains a cheaper soybean substitute variously flavored like beef, chicken, pork or ham.

As for nutrition, Whipple says his dehydrated food is better than canned products because it is not heated to high temperatures before packing. Heating robs vegetables of many of their minerals and vitamins.

Whipple, a 31-year-old businessman who also cleans and repairs shopping carts for super markets, got his start in dehydrated foods in 1972 selling mostly to his fellow Mormons, who are required by their religion to keep a one-year supply of food on hand.

Whipple is not alone. The Mormons' precept about stored food got the national dehydrated food industry going. Now only about 5 per cent of all such foods are bought by Mormons. The great majority of purchasers are upper-middle class Easterners, industry officials say.

Whipple recently opened two stores, for a total of three, and has started an advertising campaign in national publications. Whipple is reluctant to reveal precise sales figures.

"The response has been tremendous," said Fred Teicher, one of Whipple's associates.

Each meal in the one-year food package costs about 40 cents and provides three-ounce servings of four items.

"And that doesn't count what you save or waste," said Teicher. "It's basically zero waste."

Whipple's ads say that, in times of crisis, "You Can't Eat Gold." And Teicher says,

"There's going to be a major food crisis in this country. All you've got to do is read the headlines."

STACK OF BEEHIVE SPECIALTY: Ron Whipple, president of Beehive Specialty Foods, Atlanta, Ga., leans on 11 small cartons of dehydrated food which, he says, can be stored for 15 years or more and will provide one person with three balanced meals a day for a year. Whipple said in Atlanta that Beehive is one of several firms across the country offering these packages. He said the 11 packages sell for $395. (AP Wirephoto)

Faded phrases: "She put the skids under him." "He's trying to bamboozle me" and "He led her down the primrose path."

Ad in a zoo publication: "Wanted by a Lion Tamer — a Tamer Lion!" ... According to a leading headshrinker, heavy-drinking males are almost invariably hepped, even if they don't believe it.

Favorite sandwich of Jerry Stiller: Chopped chicken liver, lettuce, tomato slices, potato salad and cole slaw, nestled in a scooped-out Kaiser roll. ... Dyan Cannon should win an Oscar next time for bravery. She played her starring role in "A Child Under a Leaf" without one iota of makeup. Know many actresses who'd try that? ... Lou Jacobi, at Sea Fare of the Aegean, defined diplomacy as the art of convincing your wife that she'd look fat in a mink coat.

Smattering of Signs: The Aries native adds zest and life to any environment. ... # Liza And Lorna Very Good Friends

Q: Is it true that Liza Minnelli and her half sister, Lorna Luft, are really bitter enemies? — F. McD., Grand Rapids, Mich.
A: No, not true. The two sisters are very close. For quite a while Liza would not speak to Sid Luft (Lorna's father) and that caused a strain between the two girls. (Lorna is close to her father and he's also her manager.) However, recently Liza and Sid made up. When Liza was in New York last, she visited with the entire Luft family, including Sid's current wife, Patti.

AND KUNG FU TO YOU: TV star David Carradine got himself in the headlines recently when he playfully broke into a neighbor's house. Now he has his second lawsuit, from a woman named Annick Marie Kilty. She says Carradine called her a witch, beat her up, tried to strip off her clothes. She wants $1,000,000 for these little indignities. David — drop Kung Fu and take up chess!

Q: Do you remember that terrific singer Joanie Sommers, who was so famous in the early sixties? Where did she disappear to? — A.M., Rochester, N.Y.
A: Joanie gave up her career when she married, but her husband died tragically three years ago. Since then, Joanie has been trying valiantly to put the pieces of her life together and resume her career.
QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: How to make 600 people very nervous? That's what rock king-queen David Bowie did at the Liza Minnelli-Jack Haley, Jr. wedding reception tossed by Sammy Davis, Jr. David smoked dope right in front of everybody, throwing such luminaries as Liz Taylor and Alice Cooper into a sweat over a police bust.

Q: Who won that squabble between the book publisher and and the publisher didn't like it and refused to pay some huge sum. — M.K., N.Y.

A: The case between William Morrow and Company and Saffire went to an arbitration board which ruled against the author. Saffire could keep his first payment of $83,000, but Morrow was not required to pay the rest of the $250,000. Saffire has sold the book to Doubleday at a bargain basement price of $10,000.
Q: Does Mick Jagger's wife, Bianca, work? — H.W., N.Y., N.Y.
A: She does model. The London Sunday Times (usually reliable) reports Bianca's fee for a day's work is $2,500.

Barn Collapse Kills Worker

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A 33-year-old prison trusty was killed when a barn collapsed on him while he was on a work detail, authorities at Camp Pontiac have reported. Officials at the minimum security facility in Oakland County's Orion Township said Willie Jackson was killed Friday when a state-owned barn 20 miles from the camp toppled in a sudden gust of wind. Jackson was dead at the scene.

LORNA: Close to Liza.

JOANIE: Getting it all together.

Dean Is Barred At Florida School

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Florida Atlantic University has barred John W. Dean III from making a scheduled paid appearance April 17 on grounds it would violate university rules against use of facilities by a promoter.
Dean, who served as White House counsel under former President Richard M. Nixon, signed an agreement stipulating a $4,000 fee with student-promoter Buddy Clark, a senior majoring in political science.

"the length of time would be too short to make sure we have everything in proper order (for Dean's appearance)."
Clark disagreed, saying two months was enough time to make policy changes.
"It's a terrible excuse, this is just the runaround," he said. "This isn't a commercial venture with me. The only reason I ever got involved in it was the school didn't have the money and I thought it would bring lots of prestige to the university."

But Dr. Kenneth Michels, academic affairs vice president, said Saturday he has ruled out the appearance. Michels said the school probably would change the policy banning promotions but Clark offered to pay Dean's $4,000 fee in return for half the profit on admissions, with 40 per cent of the profit going to the political science department and 10 per cent to the entertainment committee.

Crete Site
Of Tragedy

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A Greek air force helicopter located the wreckage of a West German military transport plane in the snow-covered mountains of the island of Crete today.

All 42 men aboard were apparently killed, a spokesman for the West German embassy reported. The plane crashed during a storm Sunday night as it was bringing 37 West German soldiers for anti-aircraft firing tests at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's missile base on Crete. The pilot apparently lost his way when he was about 15 miles from his destination and turned back into the mountains, the spokesman said.

Chrysler Will Build Buses

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. is expected to enter the bus business this year, with hopes of producing 12-passenger, diesel-powered models for the growing mass transit market.

Michigan Highway Department officials said Chrysler will build a test model in about a month and test it for two or three months to identify any problems. Chrysler told state officials that production of about 10 buses a day could start as early as this summer. The buses likely would be built in St. Louis.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Mixed At Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were mixed in a hesitant market today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction, while gainers took a slight overall lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers noted some carryover of buying from the gradual recovery that set in after a sharp early loss on Friday, when the market was confronted with the news of the nation's highest unemployment rate since World War II.

But interest appeared to be dampened by widespread expectations that stocks were due for a backward move after a sharp, almost uninterrupted run up over the past two months. Today's prices included Bethlehem Steel, up 1/4 at 31; LTV, up 1/4 at 14; Parker Pen, up 1/4 at 18 1/2; and General Telephone & Electronics, down 1/4 at 21 3/4.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average came back from an early 12-point deficit to finish with a 2.26 loss at 711.91.

The Dow wound up the week with a net advance of 8.22. Big Board volume was an estimated 19.06 million shares in a session interrupted for 36 minutes shortly after the opening because of computer trouble at the exchange.

The NYSE, which had first estimated turnover at 20.08 million, said it didn't expect to have final official volume totals until later today. Declines outpaced advances by about a 3-2 margin on the Big Board, and the exchange's composite index was off .02 at 41.80.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .20 to 75.08.

Gold Dips On Market In London

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold dropped today in London but remained steady in Zurich, Europe's other major bullion-trading center.

London's five major dealers fixed the price for morning trading at $173.50 an ounce. It closed Friday at $174.75.

In Zurich, trading opened at $173 an ounce, unchanged from Friday's close.

Sylvia Porter
YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

YOUR TAX REBATE AND KEY CHANGES IN '74
No matter what tax rebate may be coming to you as a result of anti-recession tax legislation this year, you MUST first fill out your 1974 income tax return, you MUST file it before the April 15 deadline, you MUST go through every procedure that you usually would without any tax rebate or other type of tax cut.

You cannot deduct the rebate from the total tax you figure you owe on your '74 earnings. You must complete and send in your return with whatever money you calculate you owe, as always. The Internal Revenue Service will, through some simple method, send any rebate due you later.

Also, keep these vitally important points firmly in mind:

Much of the information you will read in this series is available from no other source — not even from the best of the annual tax guides, not even from the U.S. Treasury itself. The reason is that many of the tax strategy moves were dug out of obscure regulations or little-noticed court decisions in 1974 by Leon Gold, chief tax expert of the Research Institute of America.

Trained though your local IRS agents may be, they may not be aware of some of the new regulations — for the rules may be merely a few months old or may have been circulated to only a limited degree. The U.S. Treasury itself may not have publicized a court decision because it disagrees with the decision and is resisting it. Or the rulings may have been "buried" in a mass of other rulings issued at the same time.

Without hesitation, though, I guarantee that you'll save money, time and trouble — by heeding some, if not all, of the hints in this series. It will be up to you to read with care — between as well as on the lines — when you come to suggested moves directly applicable to your own situation.

To begin with a bit of good news, a change in a footnote to the Form 1040 instructions can help save taxes for the millions of you who figure your itemized deduction for state and local sales taxes from the optional IRS sales tax table in the Form 1040 pamphlet. This table shows you the sales tax you can deduct, based on the state in which you live, the number of persons in your family and the amount of your income. The larger your income, the bigger your sales tax deduction will be.

But few of you look at the footnote which explains that the word "income" as used in this table includes more than the income on which you pay your tax — and if you haven't

Congress To Junk Ford Energy Plan?

By JIM LUTHER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Congress is moving on a course that could result in junking President Ford's energy program within the next two weeks.

Democratic leaders say they are developing an alternative to the Ford program, which is based on conserving energy by making it more costly.

At least two dozen Democratic members of both houses have offered their own substitutes for the Ford plan, but it's unclear whether they will reach agreement on an alternative.

The House, which now is in the middle of a 10-day recess, already has passed by a wide margin a bill blocking for 90 days Ford's $3-a-barrel special tax on imported oil. The Senate Finance Committee, which is continuing hearings on the measure today, aims to approve the bill this week and send it to the full Senate for final action next week.

Republicans who support the Ford program — and many of them admit their support is based partly on the lack of any Democratic alternative — apparently have discarded plans to wage an all-out filibuster against the 90-day delay.

Sen. Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo., said the better strategy probably would be for backers of the President's plan to let the bill pass, with every expectation that Ford will veto it.

The big battle then would come as Democrats in both houses sought to gather the required two-thirds to override the veto.

"We've got to have adequate debate (on the delay bill) without a filibuster," said Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, forecasting a debate lasting three or four days.

"We believe we can sustain a veto in the Senate," he added.

The imported-oil tax is the heart of Ford's program to reduce U.S. dependence on foreign energy. The project is aimed at cutting oil imports by two million barrels a day over the next three years.

A number of Democrats are expressing fear that such a move would worsen inflation by sharply raising fuel costs and the prices of other goods, and slow economic recovery by denying industries essential fuel.

Ford's $3-a-barrel tax on imported oil is designed as a stop-gap until Congress approves the higher permanent taxes he has proposed on oil and natural gas.

Democrats are basing their opposition on studies indicating the Ford program would drain consumer buying power by $20 billion a year and would have the sharpest effects on families earning under $10,000 a year.

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., who has expressed some reservations about the Ford program, indicated he would be willing to accept an alternative if one were offered.

"But let's not con the public," he told his Finance Committee colleagues. "We either have to raise the price of gasoline or have rationing. And most people don't want either."

You'd like to buy a house — you're not quite sure how much you can afford to spend...and, of course, the amount of the monthly payment is important. Using the Home Loan Payment Calculator below, prepared by the United States League of Savings Associations, you can easily compute your monthly principal and interest payments for any amount of a range of interest rates...and over 20, 25 or 30 years.

Do It Yourself Mortgage Calculator and Home Buyer Convincer

HOME LOAN PAYMENT CALCULATOR

Length of Mortgage

Interest Rate	20 Years	25 Years	30 Years
7.5%	$8.06	$7.39	$7.00
7.75	8.21	7.56	7.17
8	8.37	7.72	7.34
8.25	8.52	7.88	7.51
8.5	8.68	8.06	7.68
8.75	8.84	8.23	7.87
9	9.00	8.40	8.05
9.25	9.16	8.57	8.23
9.5	9.33	8.74	8.41

The table shows the monthly principal plus interest payments for each $1,000 of mortgage. To find your monthly payment, multiply the appropriate number in the table by the number of thousands to be borrowed.

For example, if you are looking at a $50,000 home and can put 20 percent down ($10,000), you are left with a $40,000 mortgage. If you use an interest rate of 8 1/2 percent on a 30-year mortgage, your key number in the table is $7.68. Multiply this times 40 (thousands to be borrowed) and you'll find that your monthly mortgage payments will be $307.20.

This table can also show you something about the market. Take your same 30-year, $40,000 mortgage, and multiply it by the key number at 7 1/2 interest rate. The result is $288.80. Comparing these two interest rates, you'll find that the higher rate results in a difference of only $244.80 per year.

But, when you think that a home in the $40 to $50,000 price range is appreciating at a rate sometimes in excess of $4,000 a year, you can see that the interest rate difference is insignificant to what you would lose if you continue to wait.

Inflation, energy shortages, population growth, and sewer moratoriums will continue to push the price of homes up. Now is the time to buy, before they get any higher. Once you've bought, the appreciation will be to your advantage.

So, establish the price range you can afford. Calculate your monthly payments from the table. (A general rule is, you can afford to pay 25 percent of your monthly earnings for your housing). Keep in mind, when you buy, you will be improving your tax standing...so you'll be getting some of that monthly payment back next year.

And, don't worry, financing is available. Ask your real estate agent about it.

Now, you're ready to shop Herald-Palladium real estate ads.
